

Licking Valley Courier

Subscription, $1.50 a year

Devoted to the Advancement of the Better Things for Morgan County and West Liberty

VOLUME 26, NO. 21

WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1935

Always in Advance

WHOLE NUMBER 1315

Personal

"It isn't the thing that you give away, or the price of the gift that counts; it's the love in your heart that counts. It's the spirit behind the deeds you do. That makes this world so bright. It's the loving heart in the midst of you that gives the whole world light."

Miss Laura McClure of Grass Creek visited over the week end with Miss Floris Cox.

Mrs. B. R. Keeton returned Thursday from a few days' visit with friends in Ashland.

For any sensible person, the history of the past should make him satisfied with the present.

W. M. Gardner and his secretary, Miss Nell Cole, had business in Lexington on Tuesday.

Bernard Lacy and Clyde Reese were calling on friends at Elmont on Saturday and Sunday.

Amos Day, taking advantage of Christmas, brought Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Reed a fine dish of quills.

Mrs. S. F. Martin of Salversville spent the week end here with her daughter, Mrs. Stanley Ryan.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Carter and Mrs. J. D. Lykins and son Joe had business in Wayne, W. Va., Thursday.

Mrs. J. L. Brown and Mrs. Mouna Wells visited Thursday their aunt, Mrs. Louise Conley, at White Oak.

Our telephone subscribers are finding the night service very convenient. Calls for doctors and emergency cases.

Mrs. Sue Henry and daughter Ruth, of Hazel Green, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henry at camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Motley spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Walters, at Hazel Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Nickell and son, of Hazel Green, spent a day recently with his brother, J. C. Nickell, at family.

Franklin Nickell took his wife to Jackson on Tuesday for medical advice and found she is suffering with low blood pressure.

Mrs. Doris Hyrd and little daughter Elizabeth Allen, of Green, visited over the week end here with Mrs. Hyrd's mother, Mrs. Mouna Wells.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. May of Mt. Sterling spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henry, Dr. May went hunting. They returned home Tuesday.

The Lick Branch schoolhouse was burned Sunday night and the books scattered together and burned in the fire. Sheriff Stacy has made two arrests.

Arthur Reed and his friend, Robert Allison, of Lexington, came up Friday for a few hours' gunnig hunting. They ate supper with Mr. Reed's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Reed.

Mrs. S. S. Arnold from Charleston, W. Va., came after her husband, Mr. J. W. Henry, and took them a few days' visit with their son at Williamson, W. Va., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Drexel Smith of Sey, Ill., drove in Friday for a day's visit with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Elam, of Ashland, with Mr. Smith's grandfather, at Twenty-six, and with other relatives.

C. K. Stacy and son Joe and daughter Frances Ann returned Saturday from Louisville, where they had been visiting several days with her father, Mrs. J. M. Perry, and family. Mrs. Stacy's little grandson, James Adolph, returned with her.

Herb W. H. Stacy was in a horse race a few days ago. His horse shied, throwing him. He sustained minor injuries to his face and has a badly bruised shoulder. However our sheriff got him out of commission, but going out his usual duties and going on.

BASKETBALL WINNERS

Morgan county high school basketball team won its second straight victory Tuesday night over out of county competition. The final score was 27-7.

Clifford High, a reportedly strong team from Lawrence county, proved an easy victim for Coach Vaughn's boys. The score for the first quarter was close. Soon after, the home boys began to draw away and were content only when they had piled up a sizeable lead. They held the upper hand by a score of 15-1 at the end of the first half. Coach Vaughn started Fannin and Craft at forward, Cattle and Lacy at guard, and Turner at center position. They had possession of the ball most of the time and were feeding it to the man in scoring position for numerous crisp shots.

In the second half, substitutes were used freely and they did admirably well. The substitutes were McKenzie, Cochran, Bonham, and Keeton, who made 6 points.

West Liberty vs. Canel City

In what is expected to be one of the best games of the season thus far for the Canel City and the Morgan county high school basketball teams will clash on the home floor Friday night.

The Canel City team, which has experience and height, is expected to furnish plenty of opposition for the home boys. The fans will be eager to see whether or not the West Liberty boys can hold down such men as Hancy, the tall center, and Lacy, the flashy forward, besides the other excellent goal shots reported to be on the Canel City team. This will be the first game between these two strong potential tournament contenders this season. The probable lineup is as follows:

Walters	F	Fannin
Lacy	F	Craft
Hancy	C	Turner
Patrick	G	Cattle
Walton	G	Lacy

Due to the fact that it is early in the season, the crowds have been awfully lacking, but for such a treat as this let all fans be there on hand to give the much needed support to their teams. J. WENDELL NICKELL.

MUSIC PROGRAM

Owing to the school auditorium being used for other purposes, Mrs. Baldwin held the program given by her most pupils in her own home yesterday afternoon. The music room was beautifully decorated and looked quite like Christmas. The mothers and a few other guests invited by the pupils were seated in the parlor; the pupils were assembled in a side room, off from the music room. Both of the larger rooms were darkened and the music room was lighted by candles. The French doors were curtained and used as a stage curtain. It was all beautifully arranged and well carried out. The performers all showed personal interest and reflected much credit to their instructor.

The following pupils had part in the program: Lavel M. Brown, Catherine Wells, Edith Williams, Margaret Eckell, Sally Peffer, Anna Ruth Lykins, Ivis White, Geraldine Nickell, Betty Arnett, Martin Carolyn Blake. Mrs. Baldwin presented each one personally with a dainty stockingful of candy, and each pupil with a beautiful two year diary. The pupils presented her with various gifts.

New Company Formed

Lyon H. Wells, who had taught the telephone systems in Morgan and Magellan counties from the Kentucky Standard Telephone Co., a Delaware corporation, has sold three-fourths of the business to C. K. Stacy, W. H. Wells, and Buford S. Wells, and they are now incorporated and doing business as the Morgan County Telephone Co., with Lyon H. Wells as president; W. H. Wells, vice president; C. K. Stacy, secretary and treasurer; and Buford S. Wells, general manager.

Sportsmen's League

A Sportsmen's League, with the intention to foster and protect the wild game of the section, was organized at Ellet under the guidance of Patrolman George S. Owsley. The officers of the organization are as follows: president, C. K. Stacy; secretary, J. H. Davis; treasurer, Floyd Anderson.

High School Play

The local high school will present a three-act two hour play at the Rex theater tonight. The play is a clever one and the acting of the various parts by local high school pupils is very pleasing.

The Courier goes to Grade A homes

Reorganization Begun

Governor Chandler was not fooling over the cancellation of some counties when he promised the people during his campaign to reorganize the state government from top to bottom. On Tuesday of this week he requested the state auditor to secure at once the resignation of practically all the departments of state government, including the state highway commission and the state tax commission. All departments which have been spending money beyond that regularly appropriated will be brought to a showdown. The highway department, which has been spending lavishly, will be called upon to cease operation almost entirely and most of all honest people.

I-H CLUB SHOW AT LONDON

Twenty-one counties took part in the biggest corn, canning, walnut, and blackberry show ever held in this part of the state.

Morgan county was represented at this show. Morgan county made fifteen entries in the canning show and won fifteen ribbons. We did not win any thing in the blackberry show. We won one ribbon in the walnut show. The walnut and blackberry part of the show was one of the most interesting features of the entire show. We had four entries in the corn show and won three ribbons.

Morgan county won a total of $20.75. This makes a total of something like $175 that the I-H club boys and girls of Morgan county have won in prize money since March 1.

We did not make any entries in the state and national show this time, but if our plans work out right we will make such entries next year.

The opportunities that Morgan county has in I-H club work are great. Your county agent would like to see the work grow until every community in the county would have a I-H club with boys and girls in such community reeling state and national recognition. This is entirely possible.

The splendid cooperation that has been shown by the leaders of the various clubs in the county has been a perfect demonstration of that indescribable something called "cooperatively spirit."

ANNUAL WEATHER COUNTY AGENT

NO PAPER NEXT WEEK

The Courier will take a vacation next week. That is, we will print no paper. The office will be open, of course, and preparations will be made to start the new year with a bang. Subscriptions and renewals, many in this, have been coming in very satisfactorily and the paper for next year will receive our undivided attention. Next issue, dated January 2, 1936, will be printed on New Year's day.

LOCAL NEWS

Itiner Martin of Salversville is spending the week here with his sister Mrs. Stanley Ryan.

Mrs. Will Carter, who has been in very poor health for several months is slowly improving.

Commonwealth's Attorney H. P. Rose attended the special term of circuit court at Grayson last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Henry spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Hager Henry while at Frankfurt for the inauguration.

W. P. Elam and J. N. Perry were in Mt. Sterling on Tuesday and Wednesday looking after business interests.

William Allen Blair of Berea college will be in tomorrow to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Blair.

Johnny Siegel and William Childers left Thursday for Detroit, Michigan, where they will spend a week with Mr. Siegel's parents.

Miss Anty McClain spent a few days last week in Ashland with her son, W. H. Sebastian, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian and son Dan brought her home Friday and remained until Sunday.

Mrs. J. C. Nickell, Mrs. C. S. Wells, Mrs. Ansel Fugitt, Mrs. Mouna Wells, and Misses Mary Jane Cox, Darle Adams, and Icie Davys were at the home of Mrs. Rosea Brown for an all day quilting party Tuesday of this week. The hostess served sandwiches, coffee, etc., cafeteria style.

ROB JONES' COMMENTS

Bishop S. R. Hay of the Methodist Episcopal church South is quoted by the Associated Press as having said recently at the North Alabama Methodist annual conference at Hanceville, Alabama, that it would be better to get rid of denominational colleges than to let them deteriorate into schools.

This has been the position of the writer for a number of years. There is no reason in the world why Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians, Disciples, Episcopals, and other church people should pour out their money in the name of Christianity to help educate a generation of useless people. The writer has taken him into many parts of the world and he has been brought into contact with a great many young people. He has seen more young people whose faith was shattered in religious institutions than have ever been shattered by state institutions. When we send our children to state schools, we can tell them to look out for their own religion. We can urge them to read their Bibles, say their prayers, go to church, and do their Christian duty. We can explain to them that under our form of government we have separation of church and state. When we send our children to our church schools they expect to find real religion. If they don't and if they usually come home with a shattered faith.

The writer believes in Christian education with emphasis on the Christian. It is more important for young people to learn how to live than it is for them to learn how to make a living.

The most important thing in education is for a young person to get the proper philosophy of life. Church schools, most of which are struggling for an existence cannot compete with great state universities in equipment, buildings, laboratories, etc., but Christian schools can teach Christianity as state institutions under our system of government cannot do. The time is past when we can appeal to young people to go to a school just because it is a Christian school. I am former and president of the Bob Jones college at Cleveland, Tennessee. We have very good equipment and high educational standards, but we are running a Christian college. We tell the whole world that our business first is to make Christ as out of young people. We are teaching them science, English history, foreign languages, and all of the other subjects given in colleges and liberal arts. We tell young people that they can get these things in almost all other schools, but we are a Christian college. We require Bible study. We believe in conversion. We believe in God. Our students come from all parts of the United States and from foreign countries. Our problem is not how to get students. Our problem is to provide enough room for those who wish to come. I am loyal to the churches of this nation. The Bob Jones college is a living example of the fact that the real old time religion is still works in a religious school. It also demonstrates the fact that there are still many thousands of people in the United States who want their children in a real Christian college. What our church schools need is a revival of the old time religion. A Christian college has no right to employ unconverted teachers and to lower standards of discipline and morals as many of them are doing. The founders of the early universities and colleges of America as a rule were Christian men. Christianity has produced our education. We have no right to turn our schools over to the devil.

MEN WANTED for Rawleigh Routes of 800 families in Jackson, Reliable hustler should start earning $25 weekly party Tuesday of this week. The hostess served sandwiches, coffee, etc., cafeteria style.

Freeport, Ill. (Adv.)

GIVEN PECULIAR POWER

Pennsylvania's Legislature has granted to its own citizens the exclusive right to demoralize its citizenship, as upheld recently in federal court, as portrayed in the following news dispatch:

Philadelphia, Dec. 13.—Pennsylvania has the constitutional right to restrict the importation of beer or other intoxicants from other states, it was ruled by a special three judge federal court here. The court rejected complaints of out of state brewers that the 1935 mal beverage license law violated the federal interstate commerce act and deprived brewers outside the commonwealth of equal rights with Pennsylvania companies.

The law requires a license for a $800 for out of state distributors and a smaller $300 for Pennsylvania companies. It was pointed out.

"Some of the provisions of the Pennsylvania act undoubtedly do discriminate in favor of citizens of the state," said the opinion of the court, written by Judge Oliver H. Dickenson, but he added, "The statute is one which is 'fraught with public interest,' and it is one which claims the right and privilege to be turned to others."

The Webb-Kenyon act which forbids transportation of intoxicants into states where they are prohibited by law, was quoted.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

Nov. 8, Cecil Adkins, Lenox, and Lydia Gilliam, Lenox.

Nov. 8, Kendrick Caskie, Lenox and Annie Conley, Lenox.

Nov. 11, James L. Holmerson, Bump and Ethel Adams, Bump.

Nov. 14, William Wright, Silverhill and Lulu Williams, Grayfox.

Nov. 14, Martin Blankenship, Bump and Lydia Keeton, Lick Branch.

Nov. 26, John W. Oliver, Crockett and Bertha Fannin, Crockett.

Nov. 22, Doris Lykins, White Oak and Mary Grifflins, White Oak.

Nov. 22, Verl Byrd, Wellington, and Dencie Donahoe, Berles.

Nov. 26, Arthur W. Watson, West Liberty, and Mary Dorothy McKenzie, West Liberty.

Nov. 27, Woodrow Bonum, West Liberty, and Florence Day, Lenox.

Nov. 29, Albert Carl Hill, Frenchburg, and Elva Mae Wells, Wellington.

Nov. 29, Lennie Gambill, West Liberty, and Lura Ball, Elkfork.

Boys Postoffice Building

Lynn R. Wells has bought from L. I. Williams the store building on the west side of Main street in the town of West Liberty, where the postoffice is at present, and has been informed by the fourth assistant postmaster general that an inspector will be sent to ascertain what equipment is necessary to give the proper mail service, which may be furnished by the government. The old equipment in the post office belongs to the former postmaster J. L. Blair, who served 12 years and six months as postmaster of West Liberty.

Here from California

J. D. Allen, a native of Morgan county, but for many years a resident of Oklahoma, and more recently a resident of California, has been renewing friendships in Morgan county the past week. Mr. Allen, with his son Whifred, drove thru with a car and are on a slight sojourn and pleasant trip. Mr. Allen is foreman and all around handy man on a big grain ranch and he and his boss are delighted with the Roosevelt agricultural adjustment program.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Prayer meeting and song service at 7 o'clock every Thursday night. Sunday school at 10 o'clock a.m. Church services immediately after Sunday school and also at 7 p.m. every Sunday.

Lord's Supper the first Sunday night in each month. Everybody is invited to attend these services. "Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together."

SCHEDULE OF SERVICES

M. E. CHURCH SOUTH
First Sunday: West Liberty 11 a.m. Canel City 8 p.m.

Second Sunday: Goodwin Chapel 11 a.m. Canel City 2:30 p.m. West Liberty 7 p.m.

Third Sunday: West Liberty 11 a.m. Canel City 6 p.m.

Fourth Sunday: Canel City 11 a.m. Goodwin Chapel 2:30 p.m. West Liberty 7 p.m.

Young people's division, West Liberty, every Sunday at 6:15 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to you to attend these services.

REV. CLYDE ROGGS

BRYANT

J. M. Bryant died suddenly at the home of his wife, Mrs. E. J. Bryant, at 10:17, aged 83 years.

Mr. Bryant had been ill, and died peacefully from heart failure, as he was sitting in a chair reading a newspaper.

Mr. Bryant was born in Breathitt county and in 1890 married Mary Jane Johnson, who preceded him to the spirit world some years ago. Surviving children are Mrs. George Brock of Vevian, Mrs. Ed Boyd of West Liberty, and James Bryant of Ashland. He lived to see the fifth generation of his descendants.

Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Ed Boyd, Friday by Rev. Harlan Murphy and burial in Salvo cemetery.

TO HELP VETERANS

Under a plan worked out by the Rural Resettlement administration and the Veterans' administration, veterans who receive compensation or pension from the federal government may be assisted by the government in buying farms. To receive favorable consideration, veterans must be able and aged.

The Webb-Kenyon act which forbids transportation of intoxicants into states where they are prohibited by law, was quoted.

The only participation of the Veterans' administration in this plan is to receive and to study applications, and to make recommendations to the Resettlement administration.

Interested veterans should write to Dr. E. G. Dexter, Veterans' Administration, Washington, D. C., for the proper application blanks. The blanks, carefully examined, should be returned to that office, where they will be studied by agricultural and other experts in connection with the applicant's case folder. If approved by the Veterans' administration, the blanks, with all correspondence relative thereto, will be forwarded to the Resettlement administration for such action as will further development of plans will make possible.

The only participation of the Veterans' administration in this plan is to receive and to study applications, and to make recommendations to the Resettlement administration.

Veterans' Placement Representative for Kentucky

Russell Helton and a friend, of Logan, W. Va., spent the week end here visiting Russell's brother Colza, and spent some time hunting birds.

STRIPPINGS FROM THE COW BARN BY HANK THE HIRED MAN

whats tha matter may--sez naw--yew dont seem tew be takin yer usual interest in Christmas.

oh naw--sez may--I tuk the little Shifflins gal home from skool kayso she wuz shk. oh naw--sez she--they live so pore, I kaint git them off my mind.

Its thar own fault--sez paw--John Shifflins wout hush karn fer fev he'd git off releef--sezze.

thet alut tha kids fawt--sez naw--en I agree with may, dont worry may--sez she--them kids its gona tew hev a Christmas.

so naw en bill en may en me alr havin a heap uv fun plannin a Shifflins Christmas, naw en may en me alr havin a heap uv fun plannin a Shifflins Christmas, naw en may en me alr havin a heap uv fun plannin a Shifflins Christmas.

yew no I believe this iz a old tew he the best Christmas yel.

kaw tew think uv ef ef ev family ax a littel fer one other family every body wud hev a merri Christmas.

sniffow seems lik a fiter may tew celebrate His birthday.

HANK

CAUGHT in the WILD

By ROBERT AMES BENNET

WNU Service
Copyright by Robert Ames Bennet

SYNOPSIS

As Alan Garth, a young man, and Miss Ramill, a young woman, were walking through the woods, they were startled by a sudden noise. They looked around, but saw nothing. They continued on their way, but were again startled by a noise. This time, they saw a large, dark, hairy creature with a long tail. It was a werewolf. The creature roared and charged at them. Alan and Miss Ramill ran for their lives. They were chased through the woods for miles. Finally, they reached a clearing. The werewolf was still chasing them. Alan and Miss Ramill were exhausted. They collapsed on the ground. The werewolf stood over them, ready to attack. But then, it disappeared. Alan and Miss Ramill were left alone in the clearing. They looked at each other, and then they laughed. They had been caught in the wild.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"You'll have two more days for it," Alan told him. "Only don't forget that an alloy of platinum and gold weighs more than lead. You'll be losing me 60 per cent, along with the 40 for yourself and Mr. Ramill. If you hide the loot in your pockets, you'll go down like a shot, first time you slip into a muskrat pool or quagmire. Think of the all-around calamity that would mean. You'd lose your life, Mr. Ramill would lose his skin Friday, Miss Lillith her face, and I—I'd lose my 60 per cent."

Mr. Ramill interposed: "It's no joke, Winton. I've seen a strong swimmer sink by the gold in his money-bag. A bag can be thrown off the shoulders. Another thing, Garth is to receive his third of whatever you have pawned out. That is understood."

"It was his bargain," Huxley roared. He went to crouch on the log of driftwood that Garth had reached over the fire on a twist of rawhide. When he could eat no more, he fastened back to the placer trough to resume his panning.

The others had already feasted upon the tender venison, that was self-lasted in its delicious fat. Lillith and her father had helped Garth pick it, with mere meat and the skin, down the long slope from the glacier.

Before sundown, Garth set several rawhide snares, each attached to a pair of downy snappers. For bait, he used raw pieces of caribou flesh. The beasts of the valley had never been trapped. When, at sunrise, he went the rounds of his snares, he collected a lynx, two red foxes, a weaverline, and a wolf.

Garth did not reset the snares. He had more skins than he needed. From the wolfhide he made a knapsack for Huxley. The fox skins furnished smaller bags for Mr. Ramill and Lillith.

At the second sunrise, Garth hunted the lynx and weaverline pellets and a quantity of caribou with the caribou skins.

Huxley eyed the bundle fondly. "Mr. Ramill told me about your caribou parka. I take it, you plan to go back and live among the Eskimos."

"I might as well," Garth replied. "There's your wolf parka. Load your metal and meat up from the placer. We'll meet you at the glacier."

At Mr. Ramill's nod, the engineer took the knapsack and started off. Garth put the small aluminum pot and the tin cup in the millionaire's bag. He drew his blanket from the bundle to strap it on his packboard with the bundle of skins.

Lillith Ramill crept into the lair for the last time. She came out with the pouches of salt and tea. Neither had been opened since Garth put them in her care, after the wasteful eating up of all the sugar.

For warm boots lay at the foot of the lair. She had on her moosehide moccasins and lynx-skin leggings. As she backed from under the low roof she picked up the boots and eyed them with amused contempt. They had been left only for show, not for use. But when she bent them down, Garth added them to his pack, along with the last small pieces of the moosehide.

"We might sew on rawhide soles," he said. "Now—all set. How about you, mitey? Ready to hit the trail?"

The girl showed the whisky flask that he had left in her father's care. It was full of fly dope—spruce pitch mixed with caribou tallow. She put the flask into her foxskin bag, along with the pouches of tea and salt.

Mr. Ramill was already walking off.

Garth had made a tump-line for his pack. As he fitted the pack across his forehead and stood up, rifle in hand, he glanced over his shoulder at the girl.

She turned and met his glance. Her lips curled in their old scornful smile. "What are you waiting for? Aren't we ever to get out of this beastly valley?"

He started off without any reply but with a glow of exultance under his outward show of indifference. Lillith Ramill thought she was about to escape from the Wild.

He had promised to guide them all to the Mackenzie. The probabilities were now in favor of even her father making it. The girl would go back to what she called civilization—to luxury and self-indulgence, to jazz and nightclubs—the rapid pursuit of sensation.

Yet a part of her would linger behind in this lost valley of the desolate subarctic Rockies. She had eaten of wild meat; she had smelled the tang of smoke from man's first fire, the camp fire. She had come face to face with the Primitive—and had lived it.

The real woman of her had awakened—had thrust aside the superficial self whose world was made up of artificiality and dissipation. She had been compelled to face the raw realities of life. And there were weeks more of it to come.

Fortunately, she had already been hard. Now she was fit. Under the smear of mosquito dope, the lines had smoothed from her face. The drawn look had disappeared. Instead of the scarlet of rage, her lips were cherry red with healthy natural color. She had gained weight. Her body now looked leaner rather than emaciated.

As Garth overtook the girl's father, he eyed him with a smaller yet no less genuine satisfaction. For every pound gained by the daughter, the father had been rid of three or more. Though still far from hard, the millionaire had worked and sweated into vastly better condition than at the start of his trailing.

Huxley did not come into sight, out of the placer trough, until the others were well up the tundra slope, halfway to the glacier. That gave Garth an excuse to tell Lillith to ease her father along while Huxley was closing up with them.

Garth himself swung briskly ahead. So far, nothing had been said to Huxley about the cache cave in the low tunnel of the glacier stream. He knew only that the caribou carcasses had been put on ice.

The one thing of which Garth felt most certain regarding the engineer was that he would never give over trying to get the platinum placer until every possible scheme had been balked. Mr. Ramill might quit. He already possessed a fortune.

But Huxley was still a relatively poor man, and he had now made certain that the placer was worth at least a million dollars. Behind his polished front, he was no less unscrupulous than his millionaire partner, and he was absolutely cold-blooded.

Among the cards that the future was to deal in the game, the few cards might prove to be anything from a twopenny to an ace. If the play should shift back to the valley, a cache full of meat would most benefit the player who knew about it. No less so, the caribou skins. In any event, it would do no harm and might prove of advantage to leave Huxley in doubt regarding the location of the cache.

Lillith made the last climb to Garth without effort. But Huxley puffed up almost as wheeled as Mr. Ramill. He lowered from his shoulders the small but heavy load in his moose-knapsack. The clunk of frozen gear had near beside the bulky bundle crumpled bundle on Garth's packboard drew his dispassionate attention.

"You can't expect me to carry any of that venison. I'm no pack jack of the woods. Forty pounds is quite enough to suit me."

Garth hefted the wolfskin sack.

"My guess is forty-five. Heaving roughly, that makes forty-one troy pounds, or four, ninety two troy ounces. Call it five hundred even. Platinum is around sixty dollars an ounce troy. The value of the alloy will average at least thirty. That gives us a total of say, fifteen thousand dollars. Not so bad for a few days' panning."

Huxley's face showed that this was no news to him. For all his cool self-control, his fingers clenched tight hold of the wolfskin as he drew it out of Garth's careless grasp.

Ever since coming into the valley he had spent the greater part of every long day scratching spots all over the great placer claim and panning samples of the gravel. Fifteen thousand dollars was no fortune. But if a few score panfuls of grassroot dirt could yield that amount, there could be no doubt of the vast treasure beneath.

Even if bedrock lay at a shallow depth, the platinum placer was worth at least a million dollars.

Though Garth smiled at the engineer's betrayal of cupidry, he took note of it as an additional warning. He had said that Huxley was a commonplace wolf. But any wolf is apt to be deadly when ravenous.

Garth sideward glance caught an amused twinkle in Mr. Ramill's shrewd eyes. The hard trailing had put the millionaire in better health than he probably had enjoyed for many years. Also, his mind was bigger and better poised than that of his prospective son-in-law. He could smile with Garth over Huxley's dissection smile and put aside all thought of the placer until in a position to take it from its discoverer.

Lillith saw the situation from a still different angle. She opened the wolfskin sack to peer inside. At sight of the contents, she dropped the flap, with a look of disgust. More value meant nothing to her. The alloy looked dull and uninteresting.

"Worth only fifteen thousand dollars," she bantered her father. "You've dug dirt all this time for a trifle like that, and I guess it all the way up here. Don't tell me you're so dumb that you plan to pack it for the weeks the Mackenzie. Forty-five pounds of that stuff—how ally! From what Alan told us, we may have all we can do to carry ourselves on this cross-country hike."

"With my blanket and the meat that's in it, I'm starting off with something like two hundred pounds," Garth said. "Game was scarce on the other side of the pass when I went out there. The weight of our metal in meat may be worth more than the fifteen thousand dollars. Let Huxley choose which he prefers to pack."

The engineer compromised by shoving one of the twenty-pound chunks of caribou meat into the sack, on top of the metal. This left a second chunk of equal weight. Lillith bent over to put it in her own sack.

"Lay off," said Garth. "It is his choice. Besides, frozen meat soon spoils when it thaws. Fall into Indian file. Here goes."

He backed up to his shoulder-shouldered pack, slipped the tump-line over his forehead, and started up the great cliff as if his 200-pound pack weighed no more than Huxley's 65 pounds of meat and metal.

He halted only when the other men were compelled to stop for breath. Huxley, though carrying a load only a third the weight of Garth's, had soon begun to strain and puff as hard as Mr. Ramill. He was larger than Garth and seemingly stronger-muscled. But he lacked Garth's wind and endurance and the knack of back-packing. At every half he sank down on the ice or a moraine stone, panting.

Garth merely eased his back-breaking pack upon a boulder, slipped the tump-line from his forehead, and waited for the other men to recover. Lillith Ramill's pack was too light to hamper her. She climbed with the alacrity of a goat.

In places the pitch of the glacier became too steep for ordinary climbing. Garth had to draw his belt and chop-iron holds. The last of these steep rises was far up towards the head of the pass.

The roundling distance to the summit was not so steep, and there were no dangerous crevasses. Garth made the climb at a swinging pace. He was halfway down before he met Huxley plodding slowly upwards with Mr. Ramill. The engineer looked at him with cold-eyed rancor.

Mr. Ramill paused a wistful question: "When—do we—eat?"

"At the top," "Take your time."

Lillith had chosen to wait for Garth down where he had left them all. His pack lay on the snow below the boulder upon which he had set it. She pointed her slender finger at the fallen bundle.

"I tried to find out if you were lying about the weight. I couldn't even lift one end. But you see how the top of the steep slopes. The beastly thing said off."

"That's all right, Miss Ramill. Easy enough to up-end it again."

"Easy!" Her blue eyes glowed with an odd light. "You carried Dad back to camp that day. But it was down-hill. Now—to pack this frightful load all the way up here! Alan Garth, you're a man!"

"Alan Garth, You're a Man."

"Well, it's a bit of a stiff pull-up," he admitted. "But we'll soon make the downslope. I left the knife on the knapsack. Go up and slice that caribou meat."

The girl whom her own father could not command met the order with a cheerful nod. She started briskly off up the gap. Garth's steady climbing brought him to the top of the pass a few paces behind Huxley and Mr. Ramill. Lillith was sprinkling salt on slices of the raw meat.

The pass was barren even of caribou moss. The meat had to be eaten cold or uncooked, or not at all. Six hours had passed since the party left the camp in the valley bottom. After the long, hard climb, even the girl was hungry enough to have eaten rawhide. The caribou meat was tender, and the first taste of salt since the party had come to the valley turned the meat into a feast.

Less than half of the 20-pound chunk of caribou remained by the time even Mr. Ramill found he could eat no more.

All were so refreshed by the food and rest that no one objected when Garth gave the word to start on. There would be no more slogging up-hill, with lungs bellowing for air. One would only have to hold back.

But that was the rub—the holding back. The south side of the pass was far steeper than the north, and there was no glacier to offer stretches of smooth footing. The bed of the sharply tilted cliff frequently dropped over small cliffs. Between these high ledges were slides of frost-shattered rocks. Patches of ice here and there made the footing doubly treacherous.

In places Garth had to drop his pack down before him. Not infrequently, even Lillith had to be given a hand down slippery chutes, or caught in Garth's upraised arms when Huxley lowered her off the edge of a sharp drop. Still oftener, her father had to be helped by both Garth and Huxley.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Shovel-Tusked Elephants Used Big Jaws as Dredge

Nature never made any real mechanical steamshovels except indirectly through her agent, man, but 20,000,000 years ago, before the Gobi desert had reached its present barrenness and before man had put in his appearance on earth, she had a creation far more remarkable. It was an animated dredge—a great elephant whose tusks had taken the form of shovels extending from a scow-like lower jaw. These mastodont dredged the muddy bottoms of prehistoric swamps for water lilies and other swamp growths which formed their food. It has been several years since their fossils were first discovered in the Gobi desert, but interest has reverted to them through the discovery and identification of plant fossils which prove that swamps existed in the Gobi during their time—a fact previously doubted and which doubt raised a question as to these animals' food and the purpose of their shovel tusks. This doubt, however, is now cleared. Other discoveries have shown that these long-extinct elephants also lived in America and dredged the swamps of California, Nebraska, and Kansas.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Spiders and Stars
Spiders' webs have many uses. Without their astronomers would find it harder to make accurate observations. The eye pieces of their telescopes are marked into sections by very fine lines, which are really pieces of web held in place by spots of varnish. Webs are used because it is impossible to have finer as well as equally distinct lines by any other method. There are other uses, too, for webs. An instrument maker in York employs a man specially to collect spiders and webs. Only a special kind of spider is caught, the "opera dradenata," which is usually found on gorse bushes and has a cross on its back. The spiders are made to wind their webs on special forks, each insect winding about 40 feet before the supply gives out. These webs are used in the manufacture of the most delicate types of scientific instruments.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Animal Prophets
A pit-horse at Markham colliery proved wiser than the man who drove it, says Tit-Bits Magazine. Suddenly, for no apparent reason, the horse, which had worked underground for seven years, bolted and refused to return. When its driver returned alone, the roof fell on him almost immediately. Animals often sense danger and the authorities in England know, for instance, that pit-horses are aware of danger long before the miners. Not long ago, a New Forest dog pulled its master from under the rails of an old oak, which crashed a few seconds after he reached safety. In Burma, where elephants carry logs, one of these beasts refused to cross a certain bridge with its load. Eventually the logs were loaded on carts and dragged by bullocks, but the bridge collapsed when they were halfway across.

KENNETH FOSTER hurried through the crowded streets. Everybody looked so happy, so eager, so good-natured. He wondered why he felt so out of time with them all. For, although Kenneth was on his way to buy Christmas gifts, and had money to buy something for everyone, he didn't feel the least bit thrilled and excited. In fact, he felt that the thing was going to be a chore; something to get over with as quickly as possible.

As he pushed his way through the crowded aisles, he looked disgustedly at people reaching out for "gee-gaws," as he called them. Nothing like that for him; he was going to buy useful, practical things, and he was going to see that they were made for wear and service. No one had any business throwing money away on frivolities, Kenneth said to himself, with all the wisdom of his 29 years.

From counter to counter he went. He wanted to compare values, to get the best price on everything he bought. He was going to do his Christmas shopping in a sensible way, the way it really ought to be done.

Passing through the art department his eyes fell on a beautiful piece of pottery. Unconsciously he stopped and admired its exquisite art. A sudden thought flashed through his mind. "Wouldn't mother love something like this? Wouldn't she get a thrill out of showing it to her friends?"

His Eyes Fell on a Beautiful Piece of Pottery.

Quickly his resolution to buy nothing but practical gifts vanished like thin air. He would buy the piece for mother. For the rest of the family, and others, he would get the gifts he had planned, but mother must have something to bring that light into her eyes that he loved to see. He was quite sure this lovely pottery would turn the trick. He could almost hear her say, "Oh, Kenneth, I've wanted something like this all my life!"

The purchase thrilled him with a strange satisfaction. He knew that he wouldn't have got the same joy out of buying something ordinary. He wasn't going to sneer any more at people buying "gee-gaws." Christmas seemed to call for something different. There should be practical gifts, too; no Christmas tree was complete without lamplike chandeliers, sweaters, hose and gloves, and such things, but there should be other things, too. . . . Man did not live by bread alone, Kenneth was reminding himself, other things were necessary, too.

Suddenly his face broke into a grin. That's the very thing he would do. He would buy every last one of the family something practical, but he would also buy them something that he felt they would love to have; some bit of beauty or frivolity that they would not otherwise get.

The money that he was spending had come to him in a letter from his grandfather in two days before. "My Christmas gifts for the family with this," the old man had written. "It is quite a sum for a young fellow to spend alone, but I am sure that you will do it wisely. And I want your report of what you bought after the holidays are over."

Kenneth had felt sure that his grandfather would want him to buy sensible things, but now, he felt differently. Something inside of him seemed to say that the way he was going to spend the money now was exactly as his grandfather wanted him to. What a letter he would have to write—surely he could put all the new-found joy that he was experiencing into every line.

For now Kenneth was really in tune with the spirit of Christmas. There was not a shopper on the streets as happy as he was. Every counter seemed to have taken on new interest; shopping was really a pleasure, the biggest thrill that he had known in a long time.

He hurried to the book counter. Jane was going to have those leather-bound volumes of essays that she had wanted for so long. And Jimmie—Jimmie was going to get that motion picture machine he had been talking about. Gee, he could see Jimmie's face on Christmas morning; wouldn't he get a thrill out of showing the thing to his friends. And dad, well, dad was going to get a new set of golf clubs, a brand new bag of drivers, mashes, and putters! And grandfather was going to get a letter about the shopping trip and its results that would lift him right out of his chair!

Simple Set of Bibs For the Little One

By GRANDMOTHER CLARK

Plenty of little must always be handy for the little one and a mother is always ready to make up a few more if they cost as little as these do and also require a little handwork. This package No. A-1 contains a set of three bibs stamped with designs like shown above on a fine quality heavy sheeting. Binding and thread are not included. The embroidery is in simple outline stitch. Send 15 cents to our stamped goods department and receive this set by mail.

Address Home Craft Co., Dept. A, Nineteenth and St. Louis Ave., St. Louis, Mo. Enclose a stamped addressed envelope for reply when writing for any information.

Fairy Story Is Told on Danish Postage Stamps

A fairy story from the post office is very unusual, but the Danish post office is sending them out in millions. It is a hundred years since Hans Andersen was born, and running through the leaves in the books of stamps that bear his picture is the famous but sad story of the little girl who sold matches and struck the last three or four she had to try to keep warm before she died.

BEFORE BABY COMES Elimination of Body Waste Is Doubly Important

In the crucial months before baby arrives it is vitally important that the body be free of waste matter. Your intestines must function regularly, completely without gripping.

Why Physicians Recommend Milnesia Wafers
These mint-flavored, candylike wafers are pure milk of magnesia in solid form—much pleasanter to take than liquid. Each wafer is approximately equal to a full adult dose of liquid milk of magnesia. Chewed thoroughly, then swallowed, they correct acidity in the mouth and throughout the digestive system, and insure regular, complete elimination without pain or effort. Milnesia Wafers come in bottles of 20 and 48, at 35c and 60c respectively, and in convenient tins for your handbag containing 12 at 20c. Each wafer is approximately one adult dose of milk of magnesia. All good drug stores sell and recommend them.

Start using these delicious, effective anti-acid, gently laxative wafers today! Professional samples sent free to registered physicians or dentists if request is made on professional letterhead. Select Products, Inc., 4402 23rd St., Long Island City, N. Y.

The Original Milk of Magnesia Wafers

GET BIG MAILS GALORE: Latest Money-Making Offers, Opportunities, Catalogues, Magazines, Samples, etc., etc., by listing your name in our Directory. One Issue 10c; 1 Issue 25c. Results guaranteed. Address: McLELLAN'S BARGAIN SERVICE, Lock Box 303 - Kokomo, Ind.

WNU-E 51-33

Miserable with backache?

WHEN kidneys function badly and you suffer a nagging backache, with dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination and getting up at night when you feel tired, nervous, all upset, . . . use Doan's Pills.

Doan's are especially for poorly working kidneys. Millions of boxes are used every year. They are recommended the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Merit Wins The Soul

A Christmas Story
By Agnes Myers

IT WAS Christmas eve and Jane Harrison was preparing to close the Book and Gift shop after a busy day. The door opened and an elderly man wearing spectacles and a white muffler entered hurriedly.

Setting aside his gloves and cane, and hastily scanning the shelves, he said: "I have but a few moments to make a selection; perhaps you could assist me. Something for an elderly lady."

Jane was more than a bookseller; she was reader. And, too, she could quickly sense the literary taste of an individual. Detecting in a case she brought forth Mrs. Gaskell's "Life of Charlotte Brontë," also "Sonnets from the Portuguese" and "Tint of Hours in the Holyland," all in new holiday bindings.

"Here are some delightful gift books," she remarked.

The gentleman raised a pair of surprised eyes and wonderingly surveyed the girl, rather than the books. Drawing a wallet from his inner coat he replied:

"My dear young lady, your excellent choice has tempted me to take all three." Handling Jane a card he continued, "please have them sent over to Miss Adelaide Perkins, Burton street, number 28."

Thinking her he dashed out to his cab and was gone.

"Seventy-eight Burton street," gasped Jane, "and the delivery boy gone for the night on his last round!"

Locking the store and with Miss Adelaide Perkins' gift in the hollow of her arm, the tired girl started off on her errand.

Jane and her widowed mother had lived in Edgebrook on a small income. She attended Miss Edmunds' School for Girls as a day student and received a very thorough education. In the evenings Jane worked in the town library. Her mother passed away and Jane had gone to the city. This was her first Christmas to be alone.

At the Perkins address the door was opened by an elderly lady. "My goodness, child! A package for me? Do step in." But before she could close the door a boy called out:

"Telegram for Perkins."

"Yes, yes," she said, all bewildered. "Mercy me, where are my glasses?"

She fumbled around in her pocket. "I'll sign for you, if I may," said Jane.

"Yes, please do—dear, dear, where are my glasses? Oh, here they are," and Miss Perkins' blue patent hands trembled as she opened the envelope.

"It is from my niece, the Bosworth girls. They are driving down from Harland tomorrow afternoon and will be here for ten with me around here."

"Your niece the Bosworth girls?" exclaimed Jane; "not Emily and Susan? Why, they were my best friends at Miss Edmunds' school," and thoughts of Edgebrook dashed through her mind.

The June commencement—Richard Bosworth, the tall brother, up from the city for the festivities.

"And don't forget, tomorrow at five," called Miss Perkins as Jane was departing.

The next afternoon Jane helped Miss Perkins put the finishing touches to a table set in blue china of willow pattern. There was the sound of a motor, then merry voices in the hall, Emily, Susan, Richard, Uncle Carroll, the elderly gentleman who had sent the books, were greeting Miss Perkins.

"Why Jane Harrison!" gasped the Bosworth girls in one breath.

Then followed such excited exclamations; the bliss of renewed friendship. With a rustle of her silken skirts Miss Perkins led the way to the dining-room. Jane sat opposite Richard. She liked the strength in his broad shoulders, his well modulated voice and his clear honest eyes. Eloquent of newly awakened interest roused her sentiments.

Richard was looming across the table at the young woman in the blue frock; her quaint charm, rippling laughter, the glance of her brown eyes and the lift of her pretty shoulders.

As the happy gathering moved into the sitting room Jane felt the warmth of a large hand gripping her own slim one. Looking up, she smiled into Richard's firm and understanding face.

Uncle Carroll, with an approving nod, stroked his beard like a prophet, and reflected upon the words of the poet:

Charm strikes the sight
But merit wins the soul.

© Western Newspaper Union.

OUR COMIC SECTION

Events in the Lives of Little Men

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

By Ted O'Loughlin
© By Western Newspaper Union

Dignity Doffed

THE FEATHERHEADS

By Osborne
© Western Newspaper Union

Spreading It On

A Dressy Frock Fitting Budget

PATTERN 9545

9545

"As easy as pie" to fit between two graceful rounded shoulders a draped yoke is a distinctive feature of this rather dressy, yet comfortable, frock. You'll find it hard to decide which sleeve treatment is the more charming, the one that tapers to a snugly fitted cuff or the one which stays just short of the wrist. Don't forget to note the very low, round skirt with its subtle flare. If it's a dressy dress you want, this is it! It's a dressy dress you want, but it's a dressy dress you want, or color, choose a rich, deep navy blue.

Pattern 9545 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch fabric and 1/4 yard of 36 inch wide ribbon. Complete diagrammed size chart included.

Send 15 CENTS in coins or stamps (attach pattern for this pattern). Be sure to enclose your name, address, state, zip code, and a 10-cent stamp.

Set 1 for order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 212 West 14th Street, New York, N. Y.

Household Questions

Soot water is excellent for paints. Put soot taken from chimney, fireplace and stoves in a large sack and stand for a week before using.

There is nothing like a beautiful piece of red lacquer to give the note of color that fills a room from the walls of former drabness. It may be a magazine rack or a coffee table, but the lacquered pieces we have to hand are expertly done with a finish as smooth and suave as an eggshell. The designs in gold are fine and delicate and the appearance of these exceptionally lovely pieces is quite different from the average lacquered furniture.

If cake mixture has been made too stiff do not add more milk to it. Beat an egg and add gradually until mixture is of desired thickness.

When making tomato bisque dissolve a pinch of soda in the milk used in bisque and there will be less danger of it curdling.

To prevent shoulder straps slipping off, cut a piece of tape long enough to hold straps. Sew one end of tape to inside of cross in shoulder seam. Then sew one-half of strap fastener into shoulder seam and the other on the loose end of the tape.

Grease spots may be removed from tan shoes with gasoline. Wet sponge with gasoline (keep away from fire), rub over spots, dry and polish.

© Associated Newspapers—WNU Service

Be sure of Success

And bake that Holiday Cake with the famous

CLABBER GIRL

Baking Powder
10¢

Good Sense

Men are sensible. I will go with good sense and good sense at the same time, although the two go very well together.

Coleman Self Heating Iron

INSTANT LIGHTING

Iron the easy way in one-third less time with the Coleman. Iron in comfort any place. It's entirely self-heating. No cords, no wires. No weary, endless trip between a hot stove and ironing board. Makes ironing easy, burns less fuel. Irons instantly, no pre-heating. Operating cost only 1¢ an hour. See your local dealer or write for FREE Folder. THE COLEMAN LAMP & STOVE CO., Two World Street, New York, N. Y. Chicago, Ill. Philadelphia, Pa. 1910.

GENERAL ALARM

Worm—Dogs don't, that fool near-sighted fellow thinks I'm a piece of hose.

Nothing Grat

"You can't get something for nothing in this life." "That's right," replied the gloomy citizen. "If I want even a few kind words about my disposition and some hope of future success, I've got to go to a fortune teller and pay for them."

Smiles

GENTLE HINT

Mr. Phineas: Have you heard the remark, "See Naples and die?"

Passenger—Yes.

Phineas: Well, we are over Naples and the engine is not functioning.

Just Average

Wife (to her husband): You're lazy, you're worthless, you're bad tempered, you're shiftless, you're a first class liar.

Husband (reasonably): Well, my dear, no man is perfect.

He Knew Pat

Mike—I haven't seen my Uncle Pat for ten years. I wonder what he's doing all that time.

Bo—I can guess: ten years.

Gentle Hint

Lost at Sea

Pilot—What is it?

Observer—An SOS. They want to know if we have seen anything of a pink and gray parrot.

Parliamentary

"Do you think you'll be able to get the speaker's eye?"

"The speaker hasn't done anything to me yet," said the athletic young member. "If he does, I won't aim for his eye. I'll aim for his jaw."

WRIGLEY'S ALWAYS BRINGS GOOD CHEER

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM

THE FLAVOR LASTS

The Courier

MEMBER
KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION
ORGANIZED JANUARY, 1928

Entered as second class matter,
April 7, 1904, at the postoffice at West
Liberty, Ky., under act of congress.

Subscription Price $1.50 a Year
Always in Advance

Advertising rate, 35c a column inch each insertion. Legal advertising, 50c a column inch each insertion.
Classified advertisements, 1c a word.
Readers, 10c a line.

Late obituaries, cards of thanks, resolutions of respect, etc., 5c a line.

Published every Thursday by COURIER PUBLISHING COMPANY
F. S. HIRSH, Editor
BOSCO BRONG, Business Manager

FARMERS' COLUMN

THE FARM AND HOME

To get more eggs: Feed plenty of tallow mash and scratch grains, green feed or alfalfa, clover or soybean hay, and milk. If cloudy weather prevails for long periods, or the hens are kept inside, alfalfa leaf meal, dried milk, and cod liver oil will help.

Keeping pulps, separator, and other utensils clean is important in the production of good milk and cream, even in winter. This means the use first of cold water, then hot water and soap, and finally boiling water.

While the adjustment payment in 1934 is to be not less than $2.25 per 100 pounds of the barley base and $1.50 of the dark-cream base, it may be greater than these amounts, depending on the price of the crop.

Several factors influence the temperature for obtaining best results in cake baking, such as the size of the cake, the proportion of the ingredients, and the type of baking powder.
Uniformly good baking requires an oven thermometer.

Meats to be canned should be from healthy fowls or animals, as there always is danger that disease may be transmitted to persons eating the meat. Dark colored or strong smelling portions of meat should be discarded and surplus fat removed before canning.

Moderately fat hogs weighing 175 to 225 pounds produce the best and most economical family sized cuts of pork. Hams and shoulders weigh about 16 pounds each and cut into family sized pieces for roasting and drying.

Poultry Improvement Plan

Kentucky is to have a major part in the nation wide poultry improvement program, in which quality will be stressed. Announcement to this effect was made following conferences of breeders, hatcherymen, farmers, and others interested in the industry, where features of the national plan were explained and discussed.

In general, the plan provides for the development of high producing flocks of disease free poultry. Five stages of flock development are possible: first, U. S. Approved flock; second, U. S. Verified flock; third, U. S. Certified flock; fourth, U. S.
Record of Performance flock; and fifth, U. S. Record of Merit flock.

The program, among other things, will provide for sources of good stock where persons interested in improving their flocks may know just what they are buying. In other words, it will eliminate guess work in building up flocks of high producing disease free birds.

Official inspection will be provided under the supervision of the college of agriculture and assistance will be given in the selection of breeding stock, disease testing, etc.

Cooperation on the part of individual producers and hatchery operators will be purely optional, according to Dr. J. Holmes Martin, head of the poultry department at the experiment station.

The Kentucky Poultry Improvement association, thru its board of directors voted to give full cooperation in furthering the improvement program in this state.

CATTLE

Dec. 10.—Mrs. Harlan Gilliam and two children, of Illinois, are visiting relatives here this week.

Mrs. Clay McGee of Ashland and Mrs. John Rege of Louisville, O., are here with Mrs. W. M. Benton, who is seriously ill.

Snapshots of KENTUCKY GEOLOGY by Dr. A. C. McFarlan UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Chapter XXXIV

Kentucky clays constitute a considerable mineral resource. They include ball clay for the manufacture of chinaware and pottery, refractory clay or fire clay for the manufacture of fire brick, and the more common and less valuable clays for the manufacture of brick and the cheaper grades of tile.
Extensive deposits of ball clay are known in the Jackson Purchase region.
Madison county has produced roofing tile and pottery for years. The fire clays of Carter county and vicinity are outstanding.

In 1923 at the peak of production
Kentucky produced almost 204,000 tons of clay of all kinds, valued at a little less than $800,000. The development of ball clay deposits did not get well under way until after 1921, since when there has been a rapid increase in production from a value of less than one fourth the total for the United States to a value of almost one half that for the entire United States.

Clay originates from the weathering or decay of many kinds of rock containing certain silicate minerals. It may remain above the parent rock as a residual deposit as part of the soil, or it may be carried away by streams, air, or glaciers and deposited elsewhere. The kind of clay formed depends on the kind of rock from which it was derived, the nature and thoroness of the process of decay, which is largely a matter of climate, and the degree to which the deposit is free of other materials. Clay carried away from one place may be redeposited with other materials as an impure rock such as an impure limestone and have little or no value. With the decay of this limestone, however, the clay is again separated out.

The ball clays (for chinaware and pottery) of the Purchase region are stream-deposited materials, the product of rock decay elsewhere. In almost any county in the state residual clays derived from the decay of limestone or shale are available for common brick. The Madison county clays from the vicinity of Waco are stream transported and deposited calcs. There we have an incident in the early history of the Kentucky river when as a sluggish stream meandering across a broad lowland she deposited much of her load of sediment as sand bars, mud bars, etc. These clay deposits are old clay or mud bars formed by this river, a part of the so-called triple formation. Since that time there has been a general regional upwarping, and the lowland plain has become a broad upland about a thousand feet above sea level, tota it the Kentucky river has cut a deep valley, leaving the old sand and clay deposits on the hill tops.

The fire clays represent a very thorocondition of rock decay, for their heat-resisting property depends on the thoroughness of alteration of the original mineral silicates. They occur along the western margin of the eastern coal field at the base of the Pennsylvanian or coal bearing strata. They are apparently residual, derived from the decay of Mississippian limestones, but some may be transported clays. A younger stratum of fire clay higher in the Pennsylvanian series is also worked.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT FOR Christmas

I.G.A. SPECIALS FOR WEEK OF DEC. 20 TO 26, 1935

Fargo Dates, 2 lb.	25c	32 oz. Salad Dressing ..	33c
Chocolate Drops, lb.	10c	I.G.A. Pimientos, 7 oz.	15c
Peanut Brittle, 2 lb.	25c	2 oz. Marachino Cherries 5c
Pumpkin Pie Spice	10c	Gulf Kist Wet Shrimp ..	15c
I.G.A. Green Beans	15c	I.G.A. Noodles ..	10c
Pecan Halves, lb.	45c	Lippincott Tomato Juice 10c
Mixed Nuts, lb.	22c	I.G.A. Sliced Beets ..	10c
Apple Sauce, 3 cans ..	25c	I.G.A. June Peas ..	15c
Swans Down Cake Flour 29c		Broken Mix Candy, lb. 15c
Baker's Chocolate 1/2 lb. 18c		50 pct. Filled Candy, lb. 15c
Dole Pineapple Spears 25c		3 lb. Crisco ..	68c
I.G.A. Fruit for Salad ..	32c	Margie Bell Candy, 1 lb. 30c

No. 1 Sun Tanned Walnuts, lb.	22c
I.G.A. Mince Meat, two 9 oz. pkgs.	19c
I.G.A. Dessert Powder, 3 pkgs.	14c
Lemon, Citron, or Orange Peel, pkg.	10c
Morton's No. 1 Date Pudding, 2 for ..	25c
I.G.A. Tomato Soup, 3 cans for ..	25c
I.G.A. Pad' Jar Mustard ..	10c
I.G.A. Country Gentleman Corn ..	14c
Cream and Gum Candy, 2 lb. for ..	25c
Christmas Cheer Candy, 5 lb. box ..	98c
Royal Anne Cherries (candy), 1 lb. box ..	27c
Ocean Spray CRANBERRY SAUCE, 17 oz.	19c

N. C. GULLETT

I.G.A. STORE - West Liberty, Ky.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tabs-lets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical;
only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

To Help You AVOID MANY COLDS

At the first nasal irritation or sniffle, apply Vicks Vapo-nol—just a few drops up each nostril. Used in time, it helps prevent many colds entirely.

VICKS VAPOR-NOL
REGULAR SIZE 30c . . . DOUBLE QUANTITY 50c

Master Commissioner's Sale

MORGAN CIRCUIT COURT, KY.

Plaintiff

Defendant

By virtue of a judgment and order
of sale of the Morgan circuit court, rendered at the March term, 1934, in the above styled cause, I will offer for sale at the front door of the courthouse in West Liberty, Kentucky, on Monday, the 23rd day of December, 1935, at 1 o'clock p.m., or thereabouts, upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to wit: The land herein ordered to be sold is described as follows:

Beginning at a stone and sawwood marked, at it. C. Combs corner; thence a northwest course down the hill with it. C. Combs line to the branch to a set stone no. 2; thence a west course up the branch to a set stone no. 3, on the west side of the branch to J. W.
Quiksal's line; thence a northeast course angling up the hill with M. C.
Nickell's line to a set stone no. 4, on top of the point; thence a north course around the hill with M. C. Nickell's line to a set stone no. 5; thence an east course down the hill with said Nickell's line to a set stone no. 6, at the foot of the hill; thence a northwest course with said Nickell's line, crossing the branch to black oak on the bank of the branch; thence a west course with Nickell's line to a set stone no. 6, at J. R. Gevedon's line; thence a north course with J. R.
Gevedon's line to a fence to a set stone
no. 7, low gap at Will Hane's corner; thence a south course down the hill crossing branch and up the hill with Will Hane's line to a set stone no. 8, on top of hill at Simon Stacey's corner;
thence an east course on top of ridge and Stacey's line to a set stone no. 9; thence with top of ridge and Stacey's line to a set stone no. 10; thence with top of ridge and Stacey's line to a white oak stump and sawwood tree at John T. Gullett's corner; thence with top of ridge and Gullett's line to a set stone no. 11; thence with top of ridge and Gullett's line to a chestnut oak; thence on with said line to a set stone no. 12; thence on with said line to a set stone no. 13, at A. W.
Hane's corner; thence a north course down the hill with said Hane's line to a set stone no. 14, at the Combs line; thence a west course with said Combs line to a bench and hickory; thence a south course with Combs line to the beginning, containing about 150 acres more or less.

The purchaser will be required to execute bond, bearing 6 percent interest from date, with approved security,
for the purchase money.

This 3rd day of December, 1935.
HATTEN MURPHY, M.C.M.C.
L. B. Wells, Attorney.

Master Commissioner's Sale

MORGAN CIRCUIT COURT, KY.

Plaintiff

Defendant

Notice of Sale

Gaston Howard and wife Mattie

Howard, nonresidents. Defendants

By virtue of a judgment and order
of sale of the Morgan circuit court, rendered at the November term, 1935, in the above styled cause, I will offer
for sale at the front door of the courthouse in West Liberty, Kentucky, on Monday, the 23rd day of December,
1935, at 1 o'clock p.m., or thereabouts,
upon a credit of one third six months,
one third 12 months, one third 18 months, the following described property, to wit: The following described real estate with rents, issues, and profits, situated in Morgan county and state of Kentucky, to wit:

Containing 110.00 acres more or less, located about 9 miles from West Liberty, on Northfork road, and which is correctly bounded and described as follows:

Bounded on the west by the lands of Charter Coal company, and Jim Whitt, heirs;

On the north by the lands of A. D.
Watson and Lou Etha Cassidy;
on the east by the lands of Lela Gibson;

On the south by the lands of Charter
Coal company;

Being the same land conveyed to Gaston Howard, by Luther Adkins and wife, by deed dated March 1st, 1927, and recorded in deed book 58,
page 537, Morgan county clerk's office.

For a more full and complete description see mortgage from Gaston
Howard and wife to Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, recorded in mortgage book 14 and page 161 to 163
Morgan county clerk's office.

Judgment was rendered by the Morgan circuit court, in favor of Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, at its November term, 1935, for $2400.00, with interest at the rate of 6 percent from February 28, 1934, until paid, and its cost herein expended.

The purchaser will be required to execute bond, bearing 6 percent interest from date, with approved security,
for the purchase money.

This 3rd day of December, 1935.
HATTEN MURPHY, M.C.M.C.
W. M. Gardner, Attorney.

Attend Meeting at Mt. Sterling

The young people's division of the Methodist church attended the Young People's Union in Mt. Sterling on Monday night. Two of our young people of Morgan county were made officers of the union. Herman Spencer of Canaan City was elected vice president and Miss Nell Caskey of West Liberty was made chairman of the recreation committee. Our young people had more present at the union than any other division.

Coal Mining Actively

The Crockett community is developing some of its coal resources. C. R.
Coleman has a mine in operation and the Whitfield interests are beginning the development of their holdings.

ELKFORK

Dec. 16.—The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Wheeler and took from them their little daughter Velta, aged five years. The parents and brothers and sisters will greatly miss the little jewel. The body was laid to rest in the home cemetery with services by Rev. Rufus Fannin of Roscoe.

Glenn Wheeler, who is in a CCC camp in Indiana, was at home here from Tuesday to Sunday of last week.

LENEX

Dec. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Holbrook, who made their home at Cow Branch the past year, are moving to their new home at Middlefork.

Ballard Williams was the guest last week end of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Conley at West Liberty.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lewis and her mother, Mrs. J. F. Gilliam, were shopping in West Liberty on Monday. Mrs.
Gilliam went on to Lexington to spend the holidays with her sons, Simon and Henry Gilliam.

Everett Day, Ellis Caskey, and H. A.
Williams took a truck load of tobacco to Mt. Sterling one day last week.

MIDDLEFORK

Dec. 16.—Misses Bessie and Anna
Smith of Lima attended church here Sunday.

Mrs. Jane Rose and daughter Anna entertained some of the young folks here Thursday night.

Misses Bessie and Mollie Hurks were at Paint on business Thursday.

Clarence and C. C. Smith and others from this place started Monday for Mt. Sterling with a load of tobacco.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Adkins and three children visited Mrs. Adkins father, Sanford Rowland, last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Rowland has been sick for some time but is slowly improving.

NICKELL

Dec. 15.—Michael Peyton and Delbert Gevedon went to Lexington for the tobacco market Monday. Joe Green Steele was at the Gra-freak Chapel on Sunday.

J. P. Peyton of Halsey Fork was Nickell on Sunday.

LOGVILLE

Dec. 15.—Farish Lee Hammond, who had been living at Ashland the past several years, has moved his family to the Martha Hammond place here, where they expect to make their home.
He returned to Ashland on Sunday to work a few months.

Clarence Williams and family moved to Ashland last week. Charley Howard moved to the house vacated by Mr.
Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Pack left Monday for Van Lear to visit their daughter, Mrs. Lunda Caudill, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lemaster of Floress visited her father, Charley Williams, and family, here, one day last week.

Roy Stapleton, who had been living at Matthews, has moved to Warrle Stapleton's place on Trace fork.

Mrs. Fluey visited her mother, Mrs.
C. C. McGuire, at Williams, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Kennard of Canton, Ohio, and Mrs. Arlie Kennard and son Bobby, of Akron, Ohio, spent a week recently with their parents and other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elum spent Saturday night and Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Hazel Smith, and family, at Piquette.

Mrs. J. M. Sebastian is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Isaac Perkins, at Illue Diamond.

Oldest Racing Fixture

The oldest racing fixture on the North American continent is the King's Plate, which is run in Canada.

Merry Christmas!

Gifts are on their way, carried on the wings of friendship and love. . . . Wreaths are hung and candles lighted. . . . Business doors swing shut and mankind turns homeward for safety, happiness, peace.
We pause . . . to thank all for their patronage so generously bestowed this year. Every member of this firm joins in to extend joyous greetings of the season, wishing you and yours, "Merry Christmas."

AUTY McCLAIN

WEST LIBERTY

KENTUCKY

Big Voice DOLLS

$1 to $3 Values
Christmas Special
50 and 75c

Boys' Scooters, big and little sizes ..	$1.00
Men's Dress Gloves ..	1.00
Men's Pigskin Billfolds ..	.50
Bridge Sets, pure linen, $2 values ..	1.00
Part Wool Blankets, pair ..	1.97
Outing Flannel, assorted colors, yard ..	10c

Williams Department Store

We Retail and Wholesale ZELPHIA GRAHAM, Mgr. WEST LIBERTY, KY.

CURRENT EVENTS IN REVIEW

By Edward W. Pickard

President Defends AAA and Canadian Trade Treaty

WHILE the United States Supreme Court was hearing oral arguments in the Hoosier Mills case in which the constitutionality of the whole Agricultural Adjustment Act was being tested, President Roosevelt was in Chicago seeking to justify the entire New Deal farm program. He addressed the American Farm Bureau federation in the International Amphitheater at the stock yards and was heard and enthusiastically applauded by some 25,000 farmers and as many others as could get into the theater and adjoining wings supplied with loud speakers.

The farm program, the President said, aimed to "stop the rule of tooth and claw that threw farmers into bankruptcy or ruined them into debt." As evidence that it is succeeding, he asserted that farm income "has increased nearly $2,000,000,000 in the past two and a half years."

Necessarily Mr. Roosevelt defended the new Canadian trade treaty because only two days before that pact had been bitterly attacked by his late trade adviser, George N. Peek.

"Just as I am confident," said the President, "that the great masses of city people are fair-minded, so I am sure that the great majority of American farmers will be fair in their judgment of the new treaty."

"If the calamity howlers should bellow to be right, you have every assurance that Canada and the United States will join in correcting inequities, but I do not believe for a single moment that the calamity howlers are right."

"We export more agricultural products to Canada than we have imported from her."

"We shall continue to do so, for the very simple reason that the United States, with its larger area of agricultural land, its more varied climate and its vastly greater population, produces far more of most agricultural products, including animal products, vegetables and fruit than does Canada."

"In the case of the new reductions that have been made, quota limitations are set on the amount that may be brought in at the lower rates."

In his analysis of the Canadian agreement, Peek showed that 84 per cent of the tariff concessions which the New Dealers granted to Canada were on agricultural and forestry products. He also showed that the articles on which the New Dealers granted tariff reductions amounted to $100 million dollars in 1932, whereas Canada in return had granted concessions on articles valued at only 215 million dollars.

After concluding his speech and ending luncheon with a lot of local notables, the President went to South Bend, Ind., where he received an honorary degree from Notre Dame university and delivered another address.

Coal Act Held Invalid by Liberty League Lawyers

IN THE opinion of the lawyers' committee of the American Liberty League, the Capper-Voelcker coal act is unconstitutional. Although this law, intended to stabilize the soft coal industry, has been upheld completely by one federal judge and partly by another, the committee said it violated the Constitution in that it:

1. "Unconstitutionally and arbitrarily infringes upon the individual liberties of producers and employees;" and
2. "Undertakes to regulate activities which are essentially and inherently local in character."

Neither the "pretended exercise of the taxing power through the assessment of that which is not in fact a tax but a coercive penalty" nor congressional declaration that the industry was "affected with the public interest" made the act valid, the committee contended.

Offer Made to Italy at Ethiopia's Expense

ITALY is being punished for starting the war against Ethiopia, and will be well paid for stopping it. That in a nutshell is the status at this writing. Great Britain and France reached an agreement as to the offer to be made to Mussolini before the imposition of an all embargo, set for December 12. This plan for peace, drawn up by British Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare and French Premier Laval, was based on the proposal that Italy should retain part of the territory already conquered in Ethiopia, chiefly in north-western "high" provinces, including Adowa but not the sacred city of Aksum, and that the Italian Somaliland border should be rectified. In return, Ethiopia would be given a seaport, either in Eritrea or in British or French territory. This poor Ethiopia, already decimated by the League of Nations to have victim of Italian rapacity, would be sold further victimized with the consent of the two great powers that dominate the League. Presumably, if Emperor Haile Selassie refuses the terms and decides to continue his fight for the territorial inviolability guaranteed by the league covenant, he will be abandoned to his fate.

Should Mussolini show a disposition to accept the proposals, it was expected the all embargo would be postponed to permit negotiations. If he rejects the plan the embargo would go into effect and supposedly the war in Africa would continue at least until the rainy season next spring.

Italian airplanes bombed the city of Dessye three days in succession but Haile Selassie, who was there, escaped injury. However, the American hospital and a Red cross camp were practically wrecked and many persons were killed or wounded.

Navy Limitation Parley Opened in London

PROBABLY with slight hope of accomplishing anything while representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan met in London and opened the international naval conference. Italy also was represented, but only as an observer and listener. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin welcomed the delegates in a smooth address asking the chief sea powers to lessen some of their demands to "avert the calamity of unrestricted naval competition."

Norwegian H. Dues offered President Roosevelt's suggestion of a 20 per cent reduction in existing naval treaty tonnage, or, failing that, a continuance of present fleet limitations.

Then arose Admiral Isami Nagano, chief of the Japanese delegation, and told the conference that Japan demanded parity with Great Britain and the United States instead of the existing 5-5-3 ratio and requested a "just and fair agreement on disarmament."

He said in part: "A new treaty, in the view of the Japanese government, should be based upon the fundamental idea of setting up a common limit of naval armaments to be fixed as low as possible, which they shall not be allowed to exceed; simultaneously, offensive forces must be drastically reduced and ample defensive forces provided, so as to bring about a substantial measure of disarmament, thus securing a state of non-aggression and non-aggression among the powers."

The French delegates were prepared to accept drastic limitation and even reduction of tonnage and gun calibers on individual ships; but they thought land and air armament issues must be considered in any discussion of the relative strength of navies. Italy reaffirmed her loyalty to the principle of limitation and reduction of armaments.

The pessimistic feeling that prevailed was attributed to the Japanese demand for parity, the rivalry in the Mediterranean between France and Italy, the war in Ethiopia and its economic developments and recent occurrences in North China. Any one of which might well wreck the conference.

Farley Thinks Midwest Safe for Roosevelt

POSTMASTER GENERAL FARLEY, in his capacity as chairman of the Democratic national committee, called that body to meet in Washington in January 8, when arrangements will be made for the convention of 1936 and the place of that gathering, selected by the chief bidders for the convention would be Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and San Francisco.

He denied the report that the first named city already had been decided upon. He said he thought the highest bidder would be selected, provided it has adequate convention hall and hotel facilities.

Stories that Senator Donahoe of Ohio or some one else would be given second place on the ticket instead of Garner were laughed at by Mr. Farley. He asserted that there was no doubt about the renomination of Garner for vice president. Asked about the two-thirds rule, he said the committee might recommend its abandonment, but that any change was the business of the convention. Commenting on the Literary Digest poll, which shows a majority in the midwest states voting against the Roosevelt New Deal, Farley said:

"So far as the poll relates to sentiment in the midwest states, like Iowa, it is 100 per cent wrong." He insisted that the President was very strong, not only in that section of the country, but in every part.

"The President will carry as many states next year as he did in 1932," said Farley. Roosevelt carried all except six states at that time, Farley said he believed Roosevelt would win the electoral vote of Pennsylvania.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D.
Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago
© Western Newspaper Union

Lesson for December 22

MALACHI FORETELLS A NEW DAY

LESSON TEXT—Malachi 3:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Isaiah 1:11. I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me. Malachi 3:1.
PRIMARILY TOPIC—God's Best Promises Come True.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How God Kept His Best Promises.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Bringing in a Better Day.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Preparing the Way of the Lord.

(The lesson committee has provided as an alternative a Christmas lesson, using the text Matthew 2:1-12).

The subject of today's lesson is broader than the printed text. In order effectively to teach this lesson, the entire Book of Malachi should be surveyed. The prophet pointed out the sins of the corrupt priesthood, mixed marriages, and failure to pay tithes, with the portrayal of the coming Judgment and glorious new day with Christ reigning in his glorious kingdom.

1. The Base Ingratitude of Israel (1:1-5).

God approached them with the tender affirmation, "I have loved thee." It was the burden of the prophet to declare this fact unto them (v. 1). So worldly were the people that they failed to discern God's good hand upon them.

Israel's attitude toward God is shown in the skeptical question, "Wherein hast thou loved us?" (v. 2). Malachi answers this question by showing God's choice of Jacob and his passing by of Esau, his destruction of Edom and his saving of Israel.

II. God's Severe Indictment (1:6-2:17; 3:7-15).

1. Against the priests (1:6-2:9). They were guilty of:

- a. Profanity (1:6). Their profanity consisted in despising the name of God. To God to honor God is to be profane. To use his name in any unbecoming way is to be thus guilty.

b. Sacrilege (1:7,8). Their sacrilege consisted in offering polluted bread and blemished sacrifices.

c. Greed (1:10). They were not willing even to open the doors of God's house without pay. Service to God should be out of a heart of love for him.

d. Weariness (1:12,13). Because of the absence of love, the routine of priestly duties became irksome.

e. Not teaching the law to the people (2:1-9). Those set apart to teach God's law to the people have a great responsibility and God will most assuredly demand an accounting.

2. Against the people (2:10-17; 3:7-15).

a. For ungodly marriages (2:11, 12). God's purpose in the prohibition of mixed marriages was that he might raise up a holy seed (v. 15). Marriage with the heathen would frustrate this purpose. Marriage of the heathen with the unbeliever today brings confusion into the fold of God and turns aside his purpose.

b. Divorce (2:13-16). Divorce in Israel was the source of great sorrow. Even the tears of the wronged women covered the altar (v. 13). The offerings of the man who had thus treated his wife would be an abomination to God.

c. Public wrongs (2:15, 16). (1) Sorcery or magical arts. This includes the practice of occult sciences, such as spiritism, necromancy, fortune telling.

(2) Adultery. This is a sin of wider extent than the direct parties concerned. It is a cancer which gnaws in the very heart of society. Unfaithfulness to the marriage relation should be regarded as a public sin. Such sinners should be ostracized from society.

(3) False swearing.

(4) Oppression of the hireling, the widow, and the fatherless.

(5) Turning aside the stranger from his rights.

d. Withholding tithes from God (3:7-12). Failure to pay tithes is robbery of God. His claim upon Israel was a tenth, plus free will offerings. Our responsibility is to give as God prospers us (1 Cor. 16:1).

e. Blasphemy (3:13-15). They openly spoke against God, saying that it was profitless and vain to serve him.

III. The Awful Judgment Which Shall Befall the Nation (3:15; 4:1-6). 1. By whom executed (v. 1). It is to be done by the Lord. All judgment hath been committed unto the Son of God (John 5:22, 30; cf. Acts 17:30, 31).

2. The time of (3:24-1). It will be at the second coming of Christ. John the Baptist was the forerunner of his first coming. Elijah will be the forerunner of his second coming.

3. The result (3:5, 4:1-6; 4:1, 2). For the righteous it will be a day of healing and salvation; for the wicked it will be a day of burning and destruction.

A Mother's Love

If there be aught surpassing human deed or word or thought, it is a mother's love!—De Spardaro.

Well-Doing

There is no well-doing, no God-like doing, that is not patient doing.—J. G. Holland.

Justice

To give every man that to which he is entitled, is indeed supreme justice.—Cicero.

Navajo Woman Boss of Wigwam, Says Authority on Indian Customs

While women insist on their rights and fight for independence, Navajo women are such complete bosses in the wigwam they don't have to worry about emasculation.

They head their clans, which are established on the mother's side, and holds the strings of the family purse because the Navajo wealth is in sheep, which are handed down from mother to daughter.

This is divulged by Alice Miller, who has given much time and study to Indian arts and customs.

"Navajo women don't argue about equal rights," she said. "And they don't insist on deferential gestures; they know their word is final, their position is inviolable."

One of the Navajo weavers, Eek-pah (Coming Again Woman), substantiated this idea. "I don't argue about my rights," she said. "I don't even think about them, and neither does any other Navajo woman."

Dressed in deer skin moccasins and a brightly colored skirt topped by a dark velvet blouse, Eek-pah lingered her turquoise-set bracelets and talked quietly about the customs of her people.

"Our women keep busy," she explained, "with making blankets and rugs. We get the wool from our sheep, comb and card it, and then spin it on that." She pointed to a distaff, a remnant of the ancient type of spinning wheel.

She further explained that the wool is dyed after it is spun and then woven into rugs and blankets on a loom.

Eek-pah speaks English as well as Navajo. Returning to her tribe, she married a young Navajo who already had a wife and baby.

"I didn't want to marry him. I didn't love," she confessed. "But my people persuaded me to marry him. Now, I no longer live with him; I am divorced."

Divorce among the Navajos consists in separation without benefit of a court decree. Marriage, also, often takes place without a ceremony. The common procedure is for the Navajo maiden and her lover to begin living under the same shelter, thereby announcing to the clan they are married. Occasionally, after the first child is born, they have a marriage ceremony.

"It is not strange," said Eek-pah, "for a Navajo man to have more than one wife at the same time. But the woman never has two husbands unless one is dead or unless she has a divorce."

Freedom Is Right and Power to Do Your Duty

Those who are crossing the threshold of manhood or womanhood should meditate on the two paradoxes which seek for solution—the paradox of Authority and Freedom and the paradox of Right and Duty.

I should sum up the first by saying "Freedom is not the right to do what you like, but the power to do what you ought," and the second in the words "No man has any rights save one—the right to do his duty."

—Sir H. Stuart Jones.

CUTICURA SOAP

Special Care for Sensitive Skin

Tender, easily-irritated, sensitive skins require a toilet soap that will do more than merely cleanse. It must keep the skin in good condition, freeing it from all cause of irritation. Cuticura Soap contains the delicately medicated, emollient properties of Cuticura which bring to the skin a condition of healthful cleanliness.

Price 25c. Sold at all druggists.

Firestone GROUND GRIP TIRES GET YOU THROUGH

MUD OR SNOW... WITHOUT CHAINS

THIS new tire solves winter driving problems for farmers. When you equip your car and truck with Firestone Ground Grip Tires you can get through unimproved roads in any weather. These remarkable tires make their own road, and give you super-traction in mud, snow or loose earth. They are self-cleaning and they do not clog up.

No farmer can afford to be without a set of these Ground Grip Tires—they are made with patented features used in no other tire.

See your nearby Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer today and avoid winter driving troubles.

Listen to the Voice of Firestone featuring Richard Crooks or Nelson Eddy—with Margaret Sparks, Monday evenings over Nationwide N. B. C.—WEAF Network

© 1935, F. T. & R. Co.

FOR CARS

4.40/4.50/4.75-21.....	$ 7.85
4.75/5.00-19.....	8.50
4.50/4.75/5.00-20.....	8.35
5.25/5.50-17.....	10.55
5.25/5.50-18.....	10.65
6.00-16.....	11.95

HEAVY DUTY

4.40/4.50/4.75-21.....	$ 9.80
4.75/5.00-19.....	10.60
4.50/4.75/5.00-20.....	10.35
5.25/5.50-17.....	12.50
5.25/5.50-18.....	12.75
6.00-16.....	14.15

Other Sizes Priced Proportionately Low

FOR TRUCKS

32x6 Truck Type.....	$27.65
32x6 H.D.....	36.25
6.00-20.....	16.95
6.50-20.....	21.95
7.00-20.....	29.10
7.50-20.....	35.20
7.50-24.....	39.00
8.25-20.....	49.30
8.25-24.....	54.75
9.00-20.....	60.75

Other Sizes Priced Proportionately Low

FOR TRACTORS

GROUND GRIP TYPE
5.50-16.....	$11.05
7.50-18.....	17.45
9.00-36.....	73.95
11.25-24.....	66.60

CHEVRON TYPE

5.50-16.....	$ 9.40
7.50-18.....	14.85
9.00-36.....	62.85
11.25-24.....	56.60

Other Sizes Priced Proportionately Low

Nantucket Island Talks About Secession

RESIDENTS of Nantucket Island are talking of secession, if not from the Union, at least from the state of Massachusetts. They say they are "disgusted with the present operations of government" and would manage better if left alone. Joseph Jones, at right, a New York electrical engineer and summer resident of the island, is one of the proponents of autonomy or a territorial status for Nantucket, which he says was never legally joined to Massachusetts. Above is a view of the densely populated island.

Bedtime Story for Children

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

LIGHTFOOT HEARS A DREADFUL SOUND

DAY after day Lightfoot, the deer, played hide and seek for his life with the hunters who were seeking to kill him. He saw them many times, though not one of them saw him. More than once a hunter passed close to Lightfoot's hiding place without suspecting it.

But poor Lightfoot was feeling the strain. He was growing thin and he was so nervous that the falling of a dead leaf from a tree would startle him. There is nothing quite so terrible as being continually hunted. It was getting so that Lightfoot half expected a hunter to step out from behind every tree. Only when the Black Shadow wrapped the Green Forest in darkness did he know a moment of peace. And those hours of safety were filled with dread of what the next day might bring.

In a Panic of Fear, Lightfoot Bounded Away Again.

Early one morning a terrible sound rang through the Green Forest and brought Lightfoot to his feet with a startled jump. It was the baying of hounds following a trail. At first it did not sound so terrible. Lightfoot often heard it before. Many times he had listened to the baying of the Hound, as he followed Reddy Fox. It had not sounded so terrible then because it meant no danger to Lightfoot.

At first, as he listened early that morning, he took it for granted that those hounds were after Reddy and so, though startled, he was not worried. But suddenly a dreadful suspicion came to him and he grew more and more anxious as he listened. In a few minutes there was no longer any doubt in his mind. Those hounds were following his trail! It was then that the sound of that baying became terrible. The must run for his life. Those hounds would give him no rest. And he knew that in running from them he would no longer be able to watch so closely for the hunters with terrible guns. He would no longer be able to hide in thickets. At any time he might be driven right past one of those hunters.

Lightfoot bounded away with such leaps as only Lightfoot can make. In a little while the voices of the hounds grew fainter. Lightfoot stopped to get his breath and stood trembling as he listened. The baying of the hounds grew louder and louder. Those wonderful noses of theirs were following his trail without the least doubt.

In a panic of fear, Lightfoot bounded away again. As he crossed an old road, the Green Forest rang with the roar of a terrible gun. Something tore a strip of bark from the trunk of a tree just above Lightfoot's head. It was a bullet and it had just missed Lightfoot. It added to his terror and this in turn added to his speed.

So Lightfoot ran and ran, and he heard him the voices of the hounds continued to ring through the Green Forest.

© T. W. Burgess—WNU Service.

Eve's Epigrams

A Man may consider marriage a gamble but a Woman knows the cards are stacked against him before she'll play.

Only U. S. Leper Colony
The only leper colony in the United States is the United States Leprosarium at Carville, La.

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

WINTER ENTERTAINING

For the average housewife elaborate entertaining is not to be thought of, not only because of the expense but because of the amount of labor involved.

When serving an informal tea for club or committee the wise woman will provide herself with plenty of the good sized heavy paper napkins to use instead of the cherished linen, which is used for more formal occasions.

Napkins of paper now come in large sizes and one may even have an initial to make them more personal. Nobody enjoyed the small and elusive paper napkins, for they never "stay put," but these are such a comfort and saving on linen.

There are so many kinds of sand wiches that may be served with tea or some other hot drink, that one might have a different one every day for years.

Small cookies and cakes are always popular, make them unusual, either by filling them with some soft filling of fruit or custard, or sweetened and flavored whipped cream.

The very small cream puffs filled with good thick sweetened and flavored whipped cream are most attractive and universally well liked. Serve them on a face paper-covered plate in twos or threes; when accompanied by a cup of hot cocoa, what could be more dainty for a light afternoon refreshment?

There are so many food accessories now which add to the enjoyment of serving simple foods. The frying basket for potato nests—they are so simple to make, using a fine shredder in the form of a flat grater, making the fresh potato in such the shavings that the basket when cooked even looks like a nest. These may be made and heated before serving. The baskets may be filled with the most delicious sweetbreads and mushrooms, or creamed chicken, or with any creamed vegetable one desires.

© Western Newspaper Union.

"There should be a Pulitzer prize for something of the sort," says goofy Gertie, "for that one person that makes the first page of a newspaper during the year without the aid of the police."

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

A SCHOOL

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I would have a school
A place for labor,
Yet I would always have Thy for its neighbor;
Touch this thing with romance,
And that with glamour,
The history of France,
A Latin grammar.

I would have a school
A place for dreaming,
Not only teach the true
But teach the seeming;
The world needs dreamers, too,
As well as heroes,
And Shelley something do,
As well as Nero.

I would have a school
A place for winning,
More than a little lore—
But the beginning
Of many books to read,
And much endeavor,
A school a thing to lead
The mind forever.

© Douglas Malloch—WNU Service.

TRY THIS TRICK

By PONJAY HARRAH
Copyright by Public Ledger, Inc.

ACROBATIC MATCH BOX

AN EMPTY match box is the apparatus required for this surprising trick. The magician exhibits the box, then places it upon the palm of his left hand. It lies there until he says the magic word.

Then the box slowly rises upward. It sinks again at command. Then it rises. Finally the wizard removes the box and passes it to the baffled spectators. They find it to be an ordinary match box.

There is the secret: In placing the box on his left palm, the magician sets it upside down. Moreover, he pushes out the drawer a trifle forward. In closing the drawer, he pinches a bit of flesh at the base of the fingers.

The simple process of stretching the fingers or loosening them causes the match box to rise and fall. At the finish, the right hand moves over and opens the drawer as it removes the box from the left.

WNU Service.

London Fog Flare

London police are testing this new type of fog flare which is intended to replace the old one used in the city. It is worked from gas mains, and can be folded up and put away in a metal box sunk in the street.

Old Street Car Is a Good Clubhouse

THIS unique clubhouse is a discarded street car in which members of the Homo Makers' club of Atlanta, Ga., hold their regular meetings. The car is located on a plot of ground donated to the club by the city. The ladies have made good use of the paint brush and have added curtains, shades, pictures and wall vases. A completely furnished kitchenette may be seen at the back of the car.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL

By Carter Field

Washington, Dec. 22.—The first to cash in, next month, by the new money, on spare work will be the bank for two years to the first of January, 1934.

His first message, like for extraordinary appropriations of $100,000,000. No one has yet said that he would possibly see it and a dividend.

The following budget message, January, 1935, asked for the new, old, old million last year and $1,000,000,000 additional.

Again everybody knew that he couldn't spend it all during the year, and many had not been able to say so. This time he asked for more of the appropriations to be made over two years.

Best calculations are that at the moment are that not less than $100,000,000 will be spent in the next year, from January 1, 1935, to January 1, 1936. Which means that in the next year he will have to spend the money he has asked for in the next month he will have a magnificent showing so far as working toward a balanced budget is concerned.

But that is only part of the picture.

The President did his utmost to paint the picture, one year ago, in the darkest possible shadow. When the next month will appear to be a long step forward. For example, there was no reference whatever in last year's budget message to the $2,000,000,000 profit on gold, which had been added up in the secret state treasury. There was no indication to be found that any of the billions loaned out by the RFC and other government agencies were an asset, although as a matter of fact if the RFC books were closed today, and the paper it holds and sold off in the open market, not only would the government recover for costs on the dollar, but there would be a profit.

Dramatic Touch

As though all this were not enough, the President just recently added another dramatic touch to the picture, which is intended to reassure business and taxpayers and meet the criticism of such Republicans as Governor Landon about too much spending by the federal government.

This was his statement that he had been assured by bankers that the federal credit would not be in much danger until the national debt reached a total of from 75 to 79 billions.

As the President knew it would be, he made the statement, it caused a flood of comment, criticism, and curiosity. Bankers here and there denied they had made any such statement, and denials poured in that the President made his informant.

All of which accomplished perfectly the President's objective in making the statement—to attract a lot of attention—river national attention on the huge figures—and inevitably—bring about a different impression entirely from the case when his budget message figures are given to the country.

So that when the figures come out the country will be reassured, instead of being freshly alarmed. And the total of national debt that will be disclosed, together with the prospect that it will be very slightly increased if the New Deal program goes forward, will seem much smaller than the same figures would have appeared without this preliminary flurry.

It's the kind of thing Mr. Roosevelt likes very much. He gets the same sort of kick that someone else might get from a slowly calculated attack in the campaign of 1932 on the people who kept looking him on the soldier boots.

Victory for Hull

Lots of conservative business men are going to put George N. Peek on the back, and sympathize with the "gross stupidity" which he fought in vain on the international trade policy. Some of them will really mean what they say, but a very considerable majority will be trying to pour oil on the fire instead of oil on water. Their real object will be to induce Peek to the point where his attacks on the administration will be red-hot.

For the truth is that most conservative business men interested in international trade agree with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and not with George Peek. Hence they approve the action of President Roosevelt in awarding the victory in this long drawn out battle to Hull.

This is not a discussion of the merits of the controversy. Its merits have nothing to do with the political point involved. But it is not guesswork that most business men interested in international trade approve the Hull reciprocity treaty plan, and enthusiastically favor maintaining the "most favored nation" clause.

Swap Plays Havoc

Germany took more coffee than she needed on one international swap, dumped it in New York, and broke the world price—thus playing havoc with the country she was swapping with, as well as that country's competitors.

In the normal processes of international trade, the wants of the buyers are studied. Little things are complied with. Customs duties of taste in food, preference in colors, etc., are studied. Better comes along, and the customers sometimes do without rather than buy the goods offered.

Now, too, the exporters and importers want to run their own business. They don't want the government running it for them.

On the other hand, the "tariff" favoring exporters, have frequently been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country has been a hindrance in making no concessions to the United States as a result of the fact that the United States has been a tariff for which the exporters have been able to obtain the necessary funds by some of the government's treasury this country

Lenox, Ky., Dec. 10

Dear Saint Nick:

I am a little girl eleven years old. I am going to tell you what I want for Christmas. I want a sewing set, a beautiful pen and pencil set, a comb, and a looking glass. I go to school every day. I have a dear teacher, Bessie Craft. Don't forget to bring her a box of rouge and a comb and mirror set. Your little friend,
EVELYN ADKINS

West Liberty, Ky., Dec. 10

Dearest old Santa:

Just a word to tell you what I am expecting you to bring me for Christmas. A large tricycle, a doll, a pair of red bedroom slippers, a blackboard and stands alone, fruits and candies. My mother and daddy have already given me a Shirley Temple permanent and a Shirley Temple permanent.

Oh, Santa, listen, I have a brother or years young. He wants a heavy wagon, a self-lighting lantern, a big dump truck, a rubber ball, and all kinds of fruits and nuts. So thank you, Santa.
ELIZABETH LA NELL, NICKEL

Pompey, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear Santa:

As Christmas will soon be here, I guess it is time for me to let you know what I want for Christmas. I am a little boy three years old, and would like very much to have a wagon, a gun, and lots of candy, fruits, and nuts. I have a little sister who wants a doll, and please, Santa, don't forget mother, daddy, and uncle. We don't have an open fireplace but I guess you can get down the stove pipe. I will leave the door unlocked in case you don't get down the stove pipe.

Don't forget all other little boys and girls. I hope there is a big snow on so you can come in your sleigh. Wishing you a merry Christmas and happy New Year.
Your friend, BREXEL BOOLIN

West Liberty, Ky., Dec. 10

Dear Santa:

Please bring me a little truck and a clock and my little sister Shirley a big doll and doll bed, and some candy and apples. I sure have been a good little boy. Many thanks to you.
JAMES DENVER PATRICK

Banner School, Dec. 10

Dear Mr. Santa Claus:

We are two little girls in the sixth grade. We are writing you a few lines to tell you what we want for Christmas. We want a little Mickey Mouse and a cannel. You know we want some candy and apples, oranges, etc. Santa, we are both ten years old. We are four feet tall. We have blond hair and are fair complexioned. I have blue eyes and blonde hair. Santa, we are writing, while you are not so busy so you can be packing our presents. Santa is sure not to forget our little sisters and brothers, fathers, mothers, and teacher. We like for Christmas to come because it is Christ's birthday and Christmas comes only once a year.

We have made good grades all the year. Santa, be sure to visit our school. We have our house all decorated and waiting for you. Your two sixth graders,
LENNIE JOHNSON AND ANNA WELCH POTTER

W. S. Liberty, Ky., Dec. 11

Dear Santa:

I am a little girl 8 years old. I go to school every day. I want you to bring me a big story book for Christmas, and lots of candy and fruits. I have two little brothers. One is five years old. She goes to school too. She wants a big story book, too. And baby sister will be three years old Dec. 29. I think she should have some nice presents. Don't forget my two brothers. They go to school too. My oldest brother, Arnold, is in the eighth grade, and I think he should have something nice. Junior, my little brother, wants a truck full of candy. Please, old Santa, don't forget mother and daddy and grandmother, and don't forget my school teacher, Mrs. Edna Burton.
GOLDIE MARIE TYLER

Daysboro, Ky., Dec. 11

Dear Santa Claus:

I have been going to school. We have never got a whipping at school this year. I am studying hard and I'm in third grade. It is in the primer. I would be glad to have you bring me a cap pistol and caps. I want a tricycle. Billy J. wants a spool gun. Then don't forget our little brother Rex. He would appreciate a sucker. Merry Christmas to all.
QUENTIN NICKELL

Burg, Ky., Dec. 9

Dear Santa:

I am a little girl ten years old. I go to school every day and I'm the only child. Santa, I would be much pleased for you to bring me the following: a pair of slippers, a rug, fruits, and candy. I'll not ask for much, as I have some little nieces and nephews. My name is Virginia Risner. My little nephews, Elwood and Ernest Haddix, and my niece, Kathleen Haddix, want you to bring them some toys—a doll, a pen and pencil set, a wagon for little Ernest (he is 8 years old), nuts, fruits, and candies. And please send my other little nieces some toys and candies. Lucille Risner and Edna Mae and Elod Arnett, bring them dolls and little shoes for Christmas. And my cousin, Mabel Lee Risner, wants a pair of pretty toys too. And my father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. Risner, Santa, this is my first Christmas. I ask for as there are seven to visit.
VIRGINIA RISNER

Banner School, Dec. 10

Dear old Santa:

Will you please remember us to Christ's mother? We have been a good class the whole year. We have come every day. We have completed the third grade and almost completed the fourth grade this year. We will take the fifth grade next year. Please remember our other schoolmates and our teacher, Miss Daisy, because she is good to us. Lovingly your fourth grade pupils, WANDA SPENCE AND CARL, STELLA AND ROSA SHAYER

Index, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear old Santa Claus:

We are two little girls two and four years old. We want you to bring us a little red table and two little red chairs. Baby sister will have to have a strong little chair, for she is fat. Bring us a doll, please. We live on a little hill in a little white house. You can come right up by mama's house.
BETTY AND ANNA LOU HENRY

Flores, Ky., Dec. 10

Dear Santa Claus:

As it is almost Christmas, I thought I would write you. I am a little girl nine years old. My name is Maxine. Easterling. I want a wrist watch and just anything else. Please don't forget my little sister Jean. She wants a doll. And my little brother Billy T. want a wheelbarrow and so many things I will not try to tell all he wants. Please remember my old granddads, and what ever you do try to cheer my mama, as she is so sad this Christmas. Daddy was with us last Christmas but we are all alone now. Remember my little neighbor girls and boys who have no daddys and mamas. Hoping you will not forget me and all others.
JEAN AND MAXINE EASTERLING

Pompey, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear old Santa:

We are two good little girls and just love to go to school and we go every day. We are nine and seven years old. Santa, bring us a doll, please. A set of dishes, a lamp, please, and a lot of candy, nuts, and fruit.
From two loving friends,
BARBARA AND BETTY WHITE

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear Santa Claus:

We just thought we would write a few lines to let you know what we want for Christmas. We'll not ask for much, for you are so good and brought us what we asked you to last Christmas. We're not selfish, either. For we know there are hundreds and thousands of other little boys and girls for you to give things to. Please don't forget any of them.
Bring us a set of M.C. blocks (one set will do us both, for we play to gether without fussing), bring each a doll, a great big one, and a rug. Bring plenty of candy, chewing gum, and apples.
Little Jimmy is two years old. Bring him a gun, a stuffed dog, marbles, and a ball.
Bring daddy some shells and mama some pretty quilt pieces, and I think that will be our share.
Your little friends,
LOUISE AND FLORENCE ELAM

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear Santa Claus:

I am a little boy six years old. I am in the first grade. Melda Fairchild is my teacher. She is a good teacher. I have been a good little boy and want you to bring me a tractor and a big rubber ball and a dump truck. I will not ask for much, as you have so many to visit, but bring me a few nuts and plenty of fruit, and also bring my little baby sister a doll.
Your little friend, JESSE ADAMS

Pompey, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear Santa:

Well, I am wondering if you are packing your toys to leave the north pole. I don't believe it will be very cold this winter. Santa, this is my first letter to you. I am four years old. I want a teddy bear, a large gun, a rubber ball, a French harp, and a climbing truck. My sister, who is two years old, wants a little stove, a doll, one that laughs and cries and will open and shut its eyes, a little dinner set, and a rocking chair. Bring mother and daddy something and bring lots of candy, nuts, and fruit to all of us.
From a loving little friend,
TOMMY McCLURE

West Liberty, Ky., Dec. 11

Dear old Santa:

I am a little boy ten years old. I go to school. I want you to bring me a little truck and a truck full of candy. I have one brother in the eighth grade. Do bring him something nice. My three little sisters want a doll, please. Old Santa, don't forget daddy and mother, and also grandmother. And Santa, don't forget my little neighbor boy who is crippled and hasn't gone to school for two months. His name is Paul Heiton. And don't forget my school teacher, Mrs. Jean Worshley. My name is JUNIOR TYLER

Pompey, Ky., Dec. 10

Dear old Santa:

I am a little boy ten years old. I am in the third grade. I haven't missed a day of school this year, so don't you think I deserve something nice for Christmas? I want a large dump truck, a wagon, a little red train that will run by itself, and a pencil box full of pencils and lots of candy and fruit. We have a large chimney but I won't have much fire so you can come down easily. With love,
ORIAN ADAMS

Silverhill, Ky., Dec. 10

Dear Santa Claus:

I am a little boy three years old. I am like other little boys. I am expecting Santa Claus to bring me some candy, apples, and nuts, and a little girl. I am a good little boy. I have a little sister five years old. Bring her something too.
BENJAMIN FARISH HAMILTON

Pompey, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear Santa:

I am a little boy six years old. I am in the first grade. Melda Fairchild is my teacher. She is a good teacher. I have been a good little boy and want you to bring me a tractor and a big rubber ball and a dump truck. I will not ask for much, as you have so many to visit, but bring me a few nuts and plenty of fruit, and also bring my little baby sister a doll.
Your little friend, JESSE ADAMS

Pompey, Ky., Dec. 17

Dear old Santa:

I am a little girl 8 years old and I am in the third grade. I want a set of dishes, a large doll, a box of handkerchiefs, a good story book, a box of watercolors, and candy, nuts, and fruit. Please come to see all little girls and boys. Lots of love,
IDA ADAMS

Holliday, Ky., Dec. 9

Dear old Santa Claus:

I will write you a few lines as I am thinking of you and it is getting Christmas time. I'll tell you what I want: a slate blackboard, a telephone, a string of beads, a bracelet, a doll, nuts, apples, bananas, oranges, and candies. I am eleven years old and am in the sixth grade. Don't forget my sisters and brothers and aunt Lizzie. They are looking for you and I'll be looking for you. And don't forget daddy and mama. I am a good little girl. Your little friend,
RONNIE HOLLADAY

Lenox, Ky., Dec. 10

Hello, Santa,

We are thinking of you this cold and cloudy day, and it is getting near Christmas time. Christmas comes only once a year and we would like for you to visit us. We have tried to be as good as we could. We have good grades. All we want, Santa, is a set of Jacks and fruits, candies, nuts, etc. Don't forget our little school friends and visit all the little poor children that have never seen you, and don't forget our school pals who have gone to high school. Mabel and Mary Bell Johnson. Don't forget our fathers and mothers and our teacher. We are going to have a Christmas tree here at Banner school. Be sure to be here. All of us little children will be looking for you soon. From your little Banner pupils,
EDNA BELLE SHAYER, ANNA ETHEL JOHNSON, ALDEN BENTLEY POTTER

Lenox, Ky., Dec. 11

Dear Santa Claus:

I will now try to write you what I want for Christmas. Please bring me a doll and doll buggy, a set of handkerchiefs, a good story book, a box of watercolors, and candy, nuts, and fruit. Please come to see all little girls and boys. Lots of love,
LENA McCLURE

Holliday, Ky., Dec. 9

Dear old Santa Claus:

As it is getting Christmas time, I want a slate blackboard, a telephone, a doll, a box of powder, and apples, oranges, bananas, nuts, and candies. I am a little girl 8 years old in the second grade. I am a good little girl. Please don't forget my little sister Norma May, one year old. She would like to have a doll and anything you want to bring her. She is a good little girl. Don't forget other little boys and girls. I'll be looking for you, Santa. Your little friend,
THELMA HOLLADAY

GREEEAR

Dec. 10.—H. M. Havens visited relatives at Ezel on Saturday and Sunday. Elvin Brewer spent several days in Lexington last week.

Naah Greear took a load of fat hogs to West Liberty market last Friday.

George Halsey of Indiana was here on business last week.

Johnny Ferguson and Kate Ferguson, of this place, were married on Saturday by Rev. Jas. Wilson of Grassy. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Florence Ferguson and the groom is the son of Harlan Ferguson. They are a highly respected young couple and we wish them success.

WELLS HILL

Mrs. Mamm Wells and Mrs. John Brown visited relatives at White Oak last Thursday.

Prayer meeting was conducted here Wednesday night by Miss Grace May. Attendance and order were better than usual.

Rev. Ernest Gross filled his regular appointment here last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Deams entertained for dinner Sunday Rev. Ernest Gross and Mrs. Jim Perry and children.

Jim Cantrell of Ripley visited his brother, Grover Cantrell, and family, here, last Thursday.

The quilting society met with Mrs. Buford Wells last Friday.

SILVERHILL

Dec. 10, Misses Ellen and Anita Ferguson, of Lost Creek, were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mrs. Pauline Hamilton, here.

Turner Hamilton, who had been working at Coal Run, has returned home.

Levi Beenhilmer of Dingus spent Saturday night with Anna Hamilton.

Goebel Hamilton was the Sunday morning guest of his brother, Hollie Hamilton, at Lacey.

Ammer Hamilton, who is with the CCC boys at Paintsville, came home Saturday night, taking back with him Sunday the CCC Roosevelt terrapin.

He says it takes sight to cure the blind. Therefore he took the turtle to show the boys.

Frank Cantrell of Ashland was here this week on business.

Mrs. Stella Blankenship of Lacey has bought out Robert Cantrell's store, and has gone into the business here.

Baker Ed Williams has moved to his home on the ridge in the head of Bear branch. Jiles Beenhilmer is moving into the house vacated by him.

Subscribe for the Courier.

FLAT WOODS

Dorothy May, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollie May of Woodstock, died Saturday evening at 6:30. She was born Oct. 21, died Dec. 14, a child of three years and four months. She was the youngest of three precious jewels. Her father said, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Burial was in the family cemetery near the home.

Rev. Hobart Halsey preached here Saturday night and Sunday and was the guest of Austin Kemplin and family.

Mrs. Perry Henry is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Boyd William, in West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bellitt visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cox at Ezel on Thursday. Sherman Robinson spent a few days in Louisville last week.

Sunday school here at 2 p.m. Everybody is invited to attend. UNCLE ZIP

Henry H. Carter, who has been stationed at Paducah the past five weeks, will return to Springfield, Mo., the last of the week. His wife came up to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Carter, on Sunday for an extended visit with them and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Jones, of Tuske.

Mrs. Grace Wright visited a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Stacey, at Canal City, and at Malone with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Debarde, returning Sunday to her work here.

Miss Ruth Gardner of Van Lear will join her father, W. M. Gardner, here, tomorrow on their homeward trip to Berea, as the happiest Christmas is a united family around the festive board.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie F. Shouse and little daughter Mary Edith are coming in from Wheeling, W. Va., tomorrow for their Christmas vacation with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lykins.

Mrs. H. C. Rose was called Sunday to Paintsville to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Griggley. Ward came to us yesterday that her mother is improving.

Mrs. Frey of Carlisle, who had been here caring for her daughter, Mrs. Courtney Arnett, returned home yesterday leaving Mrs. Arnett convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mathis of Gray, Ky., are coming in tomorrow for their Christmas with Mrs. Mathis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cole.

Medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub

VICKS COUGH DROP

666 COLD and FEVER

LIQUID - TABLETS HEADACHES

SALVE - NOSE DROPS in 30 minutes

SAVE MONEY ON YOUR NEWSPAPERS

THE LOUISVILLE HERALD-POST

Licking Valley Courier

Both for One Year

$4.

The Herald-Post is publishing a special mail edition "fresh from the press of the world." This edition contains all the latest markets, news from Washington and the world's greatest writers, such as Arthur Brisbane, Walter Winchell, Edwin C. Hill. Such local writers as Olie Jones, Len Tracy, O. K. Barnes, Jim Hart and James Speed, and special prizes for women. Keep in touch with the world through The Herald-Post.

(Two Full Pages of Daily Comics)

Address All Orders to This Paper.

This offer is for R. F. D. subscribers only—in towns where The Herald-Post does not maintain a carrier service.